Three Wrecks, No Deaths In Troop E

Four persons were injured in an accident, Monday at 3:45 p.m., on highway 67, three miles north of Poplar Bluff.

A 1961 Valiant, driven by Marvin Ray West, 24, St. Louis, was passing a 1964 Oldsmobile, driven by Marjorie Jane Bowles, 40, Piedmont, when the Bowles car made a left turn. The West car skidded down an embankment. Two passengers were thrown from the West vehicle.

West received cuts and bruises, and his wife, Reba, 22, was bruised.

Their two children, Angella

4, and Michael 2, both received cuts and bruises on the head. All the injured were treated at the Poplar Bluff Hospital.

West was arrested for careless driving and passing a vehicle on a hillcrest.

Two persons were injured in an accident in Bertrand Monday at 9:35 p.m., on highway 62, when a 1964 Plymouth, driven by James Terrell, 37, Sikeston, failed to make a curve and entered a ditch.

Terrell received bruises on his head, and a passenger, Martin Blank, 22, Lilbourn, received cuts and bruises. Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Terrell was arrested for speeding.

In an accident at 11:50 a.m. Monday on highway 102, four miles southeast of East Prairie, a 1964 Chevrolet truck, driven by Arvil Hall, 38, East Prairie, was struck by a 1965 Oldsmobile, driven by Clyde C. Treadwell, 43, East Prairie. Hall attempted to make a left turn, when he was struck by the Treadwell car as the latter attempted to pass. There were no injuries.

Kidnapper Price Doubles Today

By HEDLEY BURRELL
MIAMI, Fla. AP -- The price on the head of a teenager kidnaped from his home doubles today to $50,000. If a hitch develops, the price may be his life.

Five detectives, more worried with every hour about the safety of Daniel Goldman, 18, spent the night with his family recording every phone call.

They would not say whether any calls were from the husky kidnaper who slipped in an unlocked bedroom door early Monday, bound the Goldmans with a venetian-blind cord and forced Daniel at gunpoint to leave.

Police said their fears began increasing when the kidnaper, described as extremely dangerous, failed to call the Goldmans between 6 and 7 p.m. as he had promised. In the call, he was to detail instructions for delivering the money.

If he didn't get the $25,000 by 6 a.m. today he said the price would go to $50,000. Any trouble, he said, "and you'll never see your son alive again."

Mrs. Goldman went to bed early but got up each time the phone rang while detectives took down the conversation on tape. Once she could be heard by reporters outside as she said: "Who is this? Who is this? Why don't you answer? Why don't you answer?"

Neighbors along the quiet street just off Biscayne Bay--where houses run from $50,000 to $300,000--talked with police guarding the house, and with reporters.

Mrs. Walter Shwitzer described the quiet, studious high school senior as an intelligent, well-mannered boy.

"I always say to my son, 'Why can't you be more like that,'" she said.

Daniel, whose birthday was Monday, is a muscular, 5-foot-

11, 175 pounds. He is well liked by fellow students but took little part in extracurricular activities.

A ham radio operator, he earned $200 a month repairing television sets for friends. He was saving the money to pay for college where he planned to study electronics.

He wouldn't have to pay his way, because his father, Aaron, runs a successful construction company that is one of the largest builders of condominium apartments in south Florida.

It was Mrs. Shwitzer and her husband who were wakened by cries of "Help, call the police," coming from the Goldman house before dawn.

Goldman had worked his gag loose and started screaming. He and his wife weren't able to break their bonds because the kidnaper had wedged a knife and a pair of scissors into the knots so a struggle would cut their wrists.

Goldman said he didn't get a good look at the gunman in the dark but he seemed to be in his early 50s, wearing silver-rimmed sunglasses and a baseball cap. Goldman said he had a vague feeling he knew the man, who spoke to Goldman and his wife by name.

Police said the Goldmans' brown dog did not bark as the intruder climbed over a patio fence and slipped open the sliding glass door off the enclosed swimming pool. Two dogs across the street, usually bolder, when strangers appear on the street at 4:30 a.m., also were silent, police said.

Eighty police officers and FBI agents--in cars, boats and helicopters--joined the search for the boy. His car was found a few hours later in a bank parking lot a few blocks from his home.

Bond Vote Reported Light At Charleston

CHARLESTON -- Votes in a special high school bond election were reported as "light" this morning at 11 a.m. at the five polling places. There were 377 votes cast this morning.

The vote is to approve or reject bonds for a new $1,400,000 high school. Construction of the new school has already begun.

It was thought that bonds for the new school were approved March 2, 1965 when voters of the old Charleston R-1 school district voted 808 to 499 in favor of constructing the new building.

This vote, however, was ruled invalid March 2, 1966 by bond attorneys in St. Louis as a result of reorganization that took place after the bond election in 1965 and before the bonds were sold.

The special votes will require, as in the first election, a two-thirds majority of those voting for approval.

W. R. "Dub" Pierce, Supt. of Schools, said this vote today was the only action available unless the district entered court action, which he said, "would be a slow legal process."

Before today's vote, there have been vast amounts of quarrelsome debate among members of the board of education, board attorney Clifton Banta and Supt. Pierce.

Board member Fred Moxley resigned in a special board meeting held March 19 for discussion of the bond election.

It was decided March 9 by the board to hold this special election.

Due to the April 7 reorganization of the district, voters from the Texas Bend, Thompson Bend and Bertrand school districts are getting to participate today's election.

They did not vote in the first bond vote.

The votes today at 11 a.m.: Anniston, 21; Bertrand, 34; Charleston Courthouse, 194; Charleston Armory, 85; and Wyatt, 43.

Six persons were admitted to the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital Monday: Jack Bewley, of Matthews, injured foot; Marion Hoopfinger, of Dexter, injured forearm; Jimmie Grisso of Charleston, burns; David McCormick, swallowed toothache medicine; Martin Blank of Lilbourn, car accident and James Terrell, car accident.

Mothers Want To Show Knees In Coming Fashions

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE
CHICAGO AP -- American mothers should stop trying to look like their daughters, says a couturier who is agast at the prospect that old knees might follow young knees into the open this spring.

"American women are going to make themselves look ugly," said Walter Holmes, 33, "and the designers will get all the blame."

The "knees out" look is strictly "for the young, for the rebel," said Holmes, who described himself in an interview as a designer for mature women.

Holmes' dresses hit midknee. He approves of the knee look for women 30 and younger. "Youth can wear something an adult can't," he said. "So, marvelous! Let them have their way. Let them have a ball with it. But for God's sake, don't compete with them."

What if mother insists on copying daughter's knee look? "First thing, it would go out," Holmes said. "Youth would avoid it like the plague. And then women would wonder what happened to this year's bold fashion."

"There is nothing quite so unfortunate as a woman who tries to look like her daughter," English women, Holmes says, differ from American women in this respect.

"English women may look at girls youthfully dressed and say, 'Oh, you do look adorable,' or, 'You look ridiculous,' or, 'When I was young...!' But they would never try to emulate youth," he said.

"There's a fear in America that age is a deathly sickness, instead of a charming attribute."

The English-born Chicago designer, whose personal departure from the norm is slightly long hair and sideburns, believes the older woman has an elegance, "even a sexiness," all her own, and she kills it trying to look 21.

And, Holmes said, "an elegant woman is not going to hoist her skirt three inches above her knee."

Bulldozers Touch Off Fireworks

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. AP -- Several cases of confiscated fireworks exploded Monday while a bulldozer was pushing them into a ditch for burial at the St. Joseph landfill. The blast injured several persons slightly.

About 40 cases of the torpedot-like fireworks, called cracker-balls, were seized in this area by the federal government last summer. The colored balls were deemed dangerous to children because they looked like candy.

Similar seizures were made all over the nation.

The blast tossed the bulldozer operator, Emmett Sherman, 46, off his seat. He suffered scratches and a wrist injury. A truck driver, David Blakley, who hauled the cases to the landfill, suffered cuts on fingers and arms. Other bystanders were injured.

Concert Choir To Perform Johnson-Gandhi Talks End Today

The Sikeston Senior High School Concert Choir will present its Ninth Annual Palm Sunday Concert Sunday afternoon, April 3, at three o'clock in The Middle School Auditorium.

The 74 member Concert Choir is under the direction of Gordon Beaver, and is accompanied by Judy Matthews, a senior.

Special features will be incidental solos sung with the Concert Choir and The Senior High School Vocal Ensembles.

Johnson-Gandhi Talks End Today

WASHINGTON AP -- President Johnson and India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, ending their White House talks today, have agreed on the formation of a $300-million educational foundation in India which Johnson said would help find "new ways to meet age-old problems."

The President announced the agreement Monday night at a formal White House dinner honoring Mrs. Gandhi, who arrived in Washington Monday for a state visit.

The two leaders continue their conference today. A communiqué was to be issued after their final 5 p.m. meeting. Mrs. Gandhi also was to address a noon luncheon of the National Press Club.

Indian officials make no secret of their hopes the talks will result in expansion of U.S. aid to India, now facing severe

More UFO's Flying Around Over USA

By GENE SCHROEDER
ANN ARBOR, Mich. AP -- New reports of strange lights in the skies added today to the mystery of unidentified flying objects.

About 30 persons -- including an off-duty deputy -- phoned the Washtenaw County sheriff's office Monday night to report seeing objects overhead in the Ann Arbor area with flashing red, white and green lights. At about the same time, police agencies in Bad Axe, 150 miles north, also were swamped with calls from residents who said they saw similar flying objects. Other reports came in from the Flint area.

Most of the reported sightings in the Ann Arbor area described the objects as flying less than 500 feet overhead. Previous reports last week placed them at 1,000 feet or higher.

Jack Bingham Jr., 14, a high school student, said he first spotted the objects through a telescopic rifle sight when they were about 10 miles away.

Bingham, whose story was backed by his mother, said the objects moved with fantastic speed, zigzagged and moved up and down.

Another Ann Arbor resident who reported seeing lights in the sky was Richard Sober, an off-duty sheriff's deputy. He and a neighbor watched the objects -- flashing red, white and green lights--from their front yards. Near Flint, Police Chief Ford Wallace of Linden told of spotting blue, white and red lights several thousand feet overhead which he said hovered for a time and then rapidly moved away to the north.

On the West Coast, in the San Gabriel Valley near Los Angeles, more than 200 persons called police and sheriff's deputies to report the sighting of baton-shaped, flame-red lights that revolved clockwise as they silently ascended into the night sky.

Strange flying objects were also reported Monday night in the Las Vegas, Nev., area. A commercial pilot, Ralph Salvory, said he observed four white objects at high altitude, flying in an easterly direction. He made a report to Nellis Air Force Base.

An Air Force investigator, Dr. J. Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, said last week that some of the sightings probably were swamp gas.

Buy Hynek, a prominent astrophysicist, emphasized his investigation was confined to only incidents reported on two nights.

The National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena called on the government to release all information it has on unidentified flying objects.

Beautification Bills Advance

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Two highway beautification bills were advanced by the Senate Monday night despite outcries against federal dictatorship.

One is designed to regulate billboards in line with federal requirements and the other to screen junkyard eyesores. If Missouri does not enact such legislation, it stands to lose $20 million a year in federal highway aid.

It took more than three hours of haggling to pass the billboard measure as the Senate, in its first night session of the year, worked until almost midnight.

Most of the debate was over a long amendment by Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carroll. It sets out specific regulations on billboard size, spacing, lighting and so on.

Webster's version, adopted

25-5, was not nearly as stringent as the tentative federal rules for signs along federal interstate and primary highways. For one thing it would allow billboards within 1,000 feet of a commercial or industrial enterprise and let local zoning authorities write the rules where zoning exists.

Also advanced was a companion bill to regulate junkyards along major highways. Federal funds would be used to remove or screen the auto graveyards from view.

A third measure, designed to comply with the federal highway beautification act, was temporarily shelved.

It would qualify the state for a bonus of about $3 million a year to buy land for rest stops and recreational areas.

Land, Air And Sea Assault By U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP-- U.S. forces pounded Communist territory by land, air and sea today but only the Marines reported major contact with the enemy.

The Leathernecks fought a three-hour battle with North Vietnamese regulars Monday on the central coast near Quang Ngai City, killing an estimated 150 Reds, a Marine spokesman said. The Communists offered stiff resistance to the first Marine helicopters, inflicting moderate casualties, but U.S. planes and artillery quelled the resistance.

Rising Buddhist political agitation in Saigon brought warning from Premier Nguyen Cao Ky that he will take "very strong measures" if necessary to halt the demonstrations.

Speaking to foreign newsmen while 1,000 students demonstrated in another part of the city against his military regime and the United States, Ky promised to act "not for the survival of the government but for the survival of Viet Nam."

The students cheered and banged their desks at the Buddhist-led rally as speakers charged Ky's junta with puppet-like subservience to the United States. They also called for peace in Viet Nam.

The Marines ran into the North Vietnamese troops in Operation Indiana, a new campaign in Quang Ngai Province 330 miles northwest of Saigon, which has been under Viet Cong threat or control for years.

Intelligence reports identified the Reds as elements of North Viet Nam's 1st Battalion which has fought the Marines twice before this month. "They must be looking for a big victory in this area," a Marine officer said.

A daring charge against an enemy bunker by Marine Pfc. Alvin S. Lapointe of Sudbury, Mass., relieved one Marine company planned down by a 20mm cannon. The 19-year-old Leatherneck crawled to within five feet of the bunker, jumped in and landed atop the gun. He killed one of the Red gunners with his bayonet and got the other with a grenade.

In the mangrove swamps just southeast of Saigon, other Marines plodded ahead on Operation Jackstay in an effort to clear the Saigon delta of guerrillas who have been harassing shipping in the inland capital.

Navy Swift patrol boats and Coast Guard cutters roamed the waterways and pilots from the carrier Hancock flew over the treetops while the destroyer Robinson threw 86 five-inch shells into the swamp.

For all the massive power thrown into the four-day operation, only eight Communists have been reported killed. American casualties are described as light.

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade kicked off Operation Circle Pines in the Phu Hoa Dong rubber plantation 35 miles north of Saigon near the jungled D zone, an old Communist stronghold. Spokesmen said the campaign was aimed at expanding the area under control by the Hawaii-trained infantrymen.

Bad weather continued to plague 7th Fleet fliers over North Viet Nam Monday with the Navy sending only three missions from the carrier Enterprise. Air Force fighters, however, flew 23 missions, hitting again at the Muga Pass leading to Laos. They used radar to penetrate the clouds and haze.

In an effort to curb the continuing unrest, Ky held talks with five Buddhist leaders Monday night. What he told them was not disclosed.

Foreign newsmen who met with Ky during the day said he told them his government would not make any concessions to the agitators but would pursue a policy aimed at restoring civilian rule so the generals can concentrate on the war.

The unrest broke into the open less than three weeks ago with demonstrations in the northern cities of Da Nang and Hue following the dismissal of the commander of the army's 1st Corps area, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Canh Thi. Buddhist political agitators seized on the resentment among Thi's supporters to renew their demands for popularly elected government.

Ky told the newsmen he had removed seven junior officers in the 1st Corps for taking part in antigovernment demonstrations.

The premier said it might be possible to elect a National Assembly early next year, about six or seven months ahead of schedule. But he warned that the timetable depended on progress in the fight against the Viet Cong and the government's ability to extend its control in the countryside.

Ky's original plans called for elections late in 1967 after a referendum on a new constitution that is still to be written.

The premier said efforts will be made to explain the government's intentions in Da Nang and Hue, the centers of unrest, but that if the protest continues force will be used. He said the current troubles could be solved by discussions rather than a recourse to the streets.

He said he would visit Hue and Da Nang soon but had no plans to travel to Washington.

Truman-Backer Dies Of Cancer

KANSAS CITY AP -- James M. Pendergast, 70, the man who pushed Harry S. Truman into the big-time political arena, died Monday night at his home. He had been ill with cancer many months.

A nephew of the late boss Tom Pendergast, who dominated Kansas City politics in the 1920s and 1930s, James Pendergast inherited the political mantle after Tom's conviction for income tax evasion.

But Jim Pendergast preferred to practice law, and the political machine split into several factions.

He was a war-time buddy of Harry S. Truman and they were life-time friends.

After World War I, when Truman was thinking about running for county collector, Jim Pendergast talked his Uncle Tom into supporting Truman for the U.S. Senate.

Truman was elected, and moved on up to the vice presidency.

Jim Pendergast never claimed any personal credit. He always said Truman would have made it anyway with no help from him.

Pendergast continued as president of the Jackson Democratic Club; attended national Democratic conventions, usually as a full delegate, and held a post on the state Democratic committee. He gave up that post when health began to fail.

His widow and two daughters survive.

CHARLESTON -- Votes in a special high school bond election were reported as "light" this morning at 11 a.m. at the five polling places. There were 377 votes cast this morning.

The vote is to approve or reject bonds for a new $1,400,000 high school. Construction of the new school has already begun.

It was thought that bonds for the new school were approved March 2, 1965 when voters of the old Charleston R-1 school district voted 808 to 499 in favor of constructing the new building.

This vote, however, was ruled invalid March 2, 1966 by bond attorneys in St. Louis as a result of reorganization that took place after the bond election in 1965 and before the bonds were sold.

The special votes will require, as in the first election, a two-thirds majority of those voting for approval.

W. R. "Dub" Pierce, Supt. of Schools, said this vote today was the only action available unless the district entered court action, which he said, "would be a slow legal process."

Before today's vote, there have been vast amounts of quarrelsome debate among members of the board of education, board attorney Clifton Banta and Supt. Pierce.

Board member Fred Moxley resigned in a special board meeting held March 19 for discussion of the bond election.

It was decided March 9 by the board to hold this special election.

Due to the April 7 reorganization of the district, voters from the Texas Bend, Thompson Bend and Bertrand school districts are getting to participate in today's election.

The votes today at 11 a.m.: Anniston, 21; Bertrand, 34; Charleston Courthouse, 194; Charleston Armory, 85; and Wyatt, 43.

Mothers Want To Show Knees In Coming Fashions

By PATRICK E. O'KEEFE
CHICAGO AP -- American mothers should stop trying to look like their daughters, says a couturier who is oldest at the prospect that old knees might follow young knees into the open this spring.

"American women are going to make themselves look ugly," said Walter Holmes, 33, "and the designers will get all the blame."

The "knees out" look is strictly "for the young, for the rebel," said Holmes, who described himself in an interview as a designer for mature women.

Holmes' dresses hit midknee. He approves of the knee look for women 30 and younger. "You can wear something an adult can't," he said. "So, marvelous! Let them have their way. Let them have a ball with it. But for God's sake, don't compete with them."

What if mother insists on copying daughter's knee look? "First thing, it would go out," Holmes said. "Youth would avoid it like the plague. And then women would wonder what happened to this year's bold fashion."

"There is nothing quite so unfortunate as a woman who tries to look like her daughter," English women, Holmes says, differ from American women in this respect.

"Girls women may look at English youthfully dressed and say, 'Oh, you look adorable,' or, 'You look ridiculous,' or, 'When I was young . . . But they would never try to emulate youth," he said.

"There's a fear in America that age is a deathly sickness, instead of a charming attribute."

The English-born Chicago designer, whose personal departure from the norm is slightly long hair and sideburns, believes the older woman has an elegance, "even a sexiness," all her own, and she kills it trying to look 21.

And, Holmes said, "an elegant woman is not going to hoist her skirt three inches above her knee."

Bulldozers Touch Off Fireworks

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. AP -- Several cases of confiscated fireworks exploded Monday while a bulldozer was pushing them into a ditch for burial at the St. Joseph landfill. The blast injured several persons slightly.

About 40 cases of the torpedo-type fireworks, called cracker-balls, were seized in this area by the federal government last summer. The colored balls were deemed dangerous to children because they looked like candy.

Sandwich seizures were made all over the nation.

The blast tossed the bulldozer operator, Emmett Sheriman, 46, off his seat. He suffered scratches and a wrist injury. A truck driver, David Blakely, who hauled the cases to the landfill, suffered cuts on fingers and arms. Other bystanders were injured.

More UFO's Flying Around Over USA

By GENE SCHROEDER
ANN ARBOR, Mich. AP -- New reports of strange lights in the skies added today to the mystery of unidentified flying objects.

About 30 persons -- including an off-duty deputy -- phoned the Washtenaw County sheriff's office Monday night to report seeing objects overhead in the Ann Arbor area with flashing red, white and green lights.

At about the same time, police agencies in Bad Axe, 150 miles north, also were swamped with calls from residents who said they saw similar flying objects. Other reports came in from the Flint area.

Most of the reported sightings in the Ann Arbor area described the objects as flying less than 500 feet overhead. Previous reports last week placed them at 1,000 feet or higher.

Jack Stingham, Jr., 14, a high school student, said he first spotted the objects through a telescopic rifle sight when they were about 10 miles away.

Bingham, whose story was backed by his mother, said the objects moved with fantastic speed, zigzagged and moved up and down.

Another Ann Arbor resident who reported seeing lights in the sky was Richard Sobers, an off-duty sheriff's deputy. He and a neighbor watched the objects -- flashing red, white and green lights--from their front yards.

Near Flint, Police Chief Ford Wallace of Linden told of spotting blue, white and red lights several thousand feet overhead which he said hovered for a time and then rapidly moved away to the north.

On the West Coast, in the San Gabriel Valley near Los Angeles, more than 200 persons called police and sheriff's deputies to report the sighting of baton-shaped, flame-red lights that revolved clockwise as they silently ascended into the night sky.

Strange flying objects were also reported Monday night in the Las Vegas, Nev., area. A commercial pilot, Ralph Salvory, said he observed four white objects at high altitude, flying in an easterly direction. He made a report to Nellis Air Force Base.

An Air Force investigator, Dr. J. Allen Hynek of Northwestern University, said last week that some of the sightings probably were swamp gas.

Buy Hynek, a prominent astrophysicist, emphasized his investigation was confined to only incidents reported on two nights.

The National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena called on the government to release all information it has on unidentified flying objects.

Concert Choir To Perform Palm Sunday

The Sikeston Senior High School Concert Choir will present its Ninth Annual Palm Sunday Concert Sunday afternoon, April 3, at three o'clock in The Middle School Auditorium.

Special features will be incidental solos sung with the Concert Choir and The Senior High School Vocal Ensembles.

Johnson-Gandhi Talks End Today

WASHINGTON AP -- President Johnson and India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, ending their White House talks today, have agreed on the formation of a $300-million educational foundation in India which Johnson said would help find "new ways to meet age-old problems."

The President announced the agreement Monday night at a formal White House dinner honoring Mrs. Gandhi, who arrived in Washington Monday for a state visit.

The two leaders continue their conference today. A communiqué was to be issued after their final 5 p.m. meeting. Mrs. Gandhi also was to address a noon luncheon of the National Press Club.

Indian officials make no secret of their hopes the talks will result in expansion of U.S. aid to India, now facing severe (Continued on page 14)

Beautification Bills Advance

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- Two highway beautification bills were advanced by the Senate Monday night despite outcries against federal dictatorship.

One is designed to regulate billboards in line with federal requirements and the other to screen junkyard eyesores. If Missouri does not enact such legislation, it stands to lose $20 million a year in federal highway aid.

It took more than three hours of haggling to pass the billboard measure as the Senate, in its first night session of the year, worked until almost midnight.

Most of the debate was over a long amendment by Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage. It sets out specific regulations on billboard size, spacing, lighting and so on.

Webster's version, adopted

25-5, was not nearly as stringent as the tentative federal rules for signs along federal interstate and primary highways. For one thing it would allow billboards within 1,000 feet of a commercial or industrial enterprise and let local zoning authorities write the rules where zoning exists.

Also advanced was a companion bill to regulate junkyards along major highways. Federal funds would be used to remove or screen the auto graveyards from view.

A third measure, designed to comply with the federal highway beautification act, was temporarily shelved.

It would qualify the state for a bonus of about $3 million a year to buy land for rest stops and recreational areas.

Land, Air And Sea Assault By U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam AP -- U.S. forces pounded Communist territory by land, air and sea today but only the Marines reported major contact with the enemy.

The Leathernecks fought a three-hour battle with North Vietnamese regulars Monday on the central coast near Quang Ngai City, killing an estimated 150 Reds, a Marine spokesman said. The Communists offered stiff resistance to the first Marine helicopters, inflicting moderate casualties, but U.S. planes and artillery quelled the resistance.

Rising Buddhist political agitation in Saigon brought warning from Premier Nguyen Cao Ky that he will take "very strong measures" if necessary to halt the demonstrations.

Speaking to foreign newsmen while 1,000 students demonstrated in another part of the city against his military regime and the United States, Ky promised to act "not for the survival of the government but for the survival of Viet Nam."

The students cheered and banged their desks at the Buddhist-led rally as speakers charged Ky's junta with puppet-like subservience to the United States. They also called for peace in Viet Nam.

The Marines ran into the North Vietnamese troops in Operation Indiana, a new campaign in Quang Ngai Province 330 miles northwest of Saigon, which has been under Viet Cong threat or control for years.

Intelligence reports identified the Reds as elements of North Viet Nam's 1st Battalion which has fought the Marines twice before this month. "They must be looking for a big victory in this area," a Marine officer said.

A daring charge against an enemy bunker by Marine Pfc. Alvin S. Lapointe of Sudbury, Mass., relieved one Marine company pinned down by a 20mm cannon. The 19-year-old Leatherneck crawled to within five feet of the bunker, jumped in and landed atop the gun. He killed one of the Red gunners with his bayonet and got the other with a grenade.

In the mangrove swamps just southeast of Saigon, other Marines plodded ahead on Operation Jackstay in an effort to clear the Saigon delta of guerrillas who have been harassing shipping in the inland capital.

Naval Swift patrol boats and Navy Guard cutters roamed the waterways and pilots from the carrier Hancock flew over the treetops while the destroyer Robinson threw 86 five-inch shells into the swamp.

For all the massive power thrown into the four-day operation, only eight Communists have been reported killed. American casualties are described as light.

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division's 2nd Brigade kicked off Operation Circle Pines in the Phu Hoa Dong rubber plantation 35 miles north of Saigon near the jungled D zone, an old Communist stronghold. Spoken said the campaign was aimed at expanding the area under control by the Hawaii-trained infantrymen.

Bad weather continued to plague 7th Fleet fliers over North Viet Nam Monday with Navy sending only three missions from the carrier Enterprise. Air Force fighter-bombers, however, flew 23 missions, hitting again at the Muga Pass leading to Laos. They used radar to penetrate the clouds and haze.

In an effort to curb the continuing unrest, Ky held talks with five Buddhist leaders Monday night. What he told them was not disclosed.

Foreign newsmen who said with Ky during the day met he told them his government would not make any concessions to the agitators but would pursue a policy aimed at restoring civilian rule so the generals can concentrate on the war.

The unrest broke into the open less than three weeks ago with demonstrations in the northern cities of Da Nang and Hue following the dismissal of the commander of the army's 1st Corps area, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi. Buddhist political agitators seized on the resentment among Thi's supporters to renew their demands for popularly elected government.

Ky told the newsmen he had removed seven junior officers in the 1st Corps for taking part in antigovernment demonstrations.

The premier said it might be possible to elect a National Assembly early next year, about six or seven months ahead of schedule. But he warned that the timetable depended on progress in the fight against the Viet Cong and the government's ability to extend its control in the countryside.

Ky's original plans called for elections late in 1967 after a referendum on a new constitution that is still to be written.

The premier said efforts will be made to explain the government's intentions in Da Nang and Hue, the centers of unrest, but that if the protests continue there force will be used. He said the current troubles could be solved by discussions rather than a recourse to the streets.

He said he would visit Hue and Da Nang soon but had no plans to travel to Washington.

Truman-Backer Dies Of Cancer

KANSAS CITY AP -- James M. Pendergast, 70, the man who pushed Harry S. Truman into the big-time political arena, died Monday night at his home. He had been ill with cancer many months.

A nephew of the late boss Tom Pendergast, who dominated Kansas City politics in the 1920s and 1930s, James Pendergast inherited the political mantle after Tom's conviction for income tax evasion.

But Jim Pendergast preferred to practice law, and the political machine split into several factions.

He was a war-time buddy of Harry S. Truman and they were life-time friends.

After World War I, when Truman was thinking about running for county collector, Jim Pendergast talked his Uncle Tom into supporting Truman for the U. S. Senate.

Truman was elected, and moved on up to the vice presidency and presidency.

Jim Pendergast never claimed any personal credit. He always said Truman would have made it anyway with no help from him.

Pendergast continued as president of the Jackson Democratic Club, attended national Democratic conventions, usually as a full delegate, and held a post on the state Democratic committee. He gave up that post when health began to fail.

His widow and two daughters survive.

Accused Man Fined $358 In Magistrate Slayer Caught

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. -- The accused slayer of Lonnie C. Hill, a former resident of Morley, who was married to the former Mildred Foster of Morley, has been apprehended.

Clifford Howard, 29, Negro was caught in a stakeout at the Homestead Labor Camp near where he was seeking employment. Howard was arrested on a first degree murder charge, from Palm Beach County, for the slaying of Hill on Feb. 3 at his service station in Homestead.

Howard was arrested when officers dressed in lab clothes entered the camp as laborers, and spotted Howard waiting to get hired for day labor.

The arrest to Howard brings an end to a long list of robberies and three slayings, when two other men, Robert Lee Wright, 18, and James Billy Whitworth, 26, were caught during February.

The former Morley man was a brother of Mrs. Frank Parker, Sikeston.

Judge M. E. Montgomery fined Lloyd R. Roland, Decatur, Ill., $358 this morning in Magistrate Court for having an overweight truck.

Judge Montgomery heard 17 cases, assessed fines totaling $691, with one case being continued to April 12 and another refiled in circuit court.

Charles M. Tatum, Sikeston, entered a plea of not guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor and his case was continued to April 12.

Troy E. Carter, St. Louis, entered a written plea of guilty to speeding nine miles over the speed limit and was fined $9 and costs.

Wesley E. DeProw, Overland, entered a written plea of guilty to speeding and was fined $10.

Johnson Lee Lane, 109 Selma, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, had his case dismissed in Magistrate Court.

Perryville, Huber, route four, Perrysville, pleaded guilty to careless and reckless driving and was fined $10 and costs.

Ronald L. Malcolm, 523 Moore, pleaded guilty to speeding and was fined $8 and costs.

Gayle L. Taylor, Morehouse, pleaded guilty to not having an operator's license and was fined $5 and costs.

Herschel W. Yates, Matthews, pleaded guilty to speeding on Interstate 55 and was fined $8 and costs.

Oval J. Brown, Jackson, pleaded guilty to an overweight truck and was fined $38 and costs.

Jiles E. Deever, Cape Girardeau, pleaded guilty to having defective brakes and was fined $5 and costs.

Russell L. Chadd, Sikeston, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Ellen Faye Greenlee, Sikeston, pleaded guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs.

Gary C. Harmon, Sikeston, pleaded guilty to supplying minors with liquor and was fined $100 and costs.

Will Morris Jr., Sikeston, pleaded guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $50 and costs.

STATISTICS AND YOU

What kind of a statistic are you? That, after all, is what each one of us is to the scientists who study the pattern of disease--the sum of all factors that may be involved in producing it--in a population.

A very special group of "statistics" are the people taking part in more than a dozen such studies of coronary disease and heart attacks now going on in many parts of the United States. Over the years and across the country, their individual histories have merged into a composite picture from which it is possible to single out various factors that raise the risk of heart attack.

On the basis of these findings, analyzed and correlated from several sources, a medical census-taker could draw your coronary profile--your risk of suffering a heart attack--the Missouri Heart Association points out. But first, this is what he would want to know:

Your sex: It makes a difference, and before you hasten to add, "Vive la difference," ponder this: Men in their middle years (45-64) die of heart attacks almost three times more often than women in the same age group. At age 50, men are five times more likely than women of the same age to suffer a heart attack. Not only do women develop symptoms of coronary artery disease some 10-20 years later in life than men; women tend to develop less dangerous forms of the disease.

Your age: You may think youth is your shield and armor, but now hear this: a quarter of a million people in the United States who die of coronary disease in the past year never reached three-score and ten. They died too young, between the ages of 25 and 64. Evidence is mounting that atherosclerosis (the artery clogging that sets the stage for heart attacks) starts early in life--perhaps even in infancy.

Your weight: Everybody may love a fat man, but--among middle-aged men who are 30% over their normal weight, the risk of a heart attack is twice as great as among middle-aged men of normal weight.

Do you smoke cigarettes? Cigarette smokers in a population study which has been going on in Framingham, Mass., since 1949 had twice the risk of non-smokers of having a heart attack. This study also indicates that smokers who give up cigarettes reduce their risk to nearly the level of people who have never smoked. It was also found that pipe and cigar smokers have no more risk of heart attack than non-smokers.

What do you do for a living? The answer to this question may provide the key to your way of life. Is your job sedentary, or physically active? If it's sedentary, do you try to compensate after hours for the lack of physical activity on the job? Or do you have too many labor-saving gadgets for your own good?

If you're not getting much (or any) physical exercise after office hours, you may be putting yourself in a high-risk category on this count. Surveys of several occupational groups--Israeli collective farm workers, London transport workers, American trainmen and postal workers--suggest a recurrent theme. The heart attack death rate is significantly higher among the sedentary echelons: the clerical personnel vs. the field worker on the Israeli farms; the drivers vs. stair-climbing conductors on London's double-decker buses; railroad clerks vs. switchmen and other active railway workers; the post office clerk vs. your friendly neighborhood postman. The more they move, the longer they live.

How's your blood pressure? cholesterol? Only your doctor can answer these questions, and it might be a good idea to see him if you haven't had a physical examination lately. High blood pressure and high blood cholesterol levels spell high risk of heart attacks. In this case, however, the Missouri Heart Association says, what goes up can come down, and therein lies the key to what you--with the help of your doctor--can do to reduce your risk on these two fronts.

No one has yet discovered the fountain of youth, nor is anyone suggesting that men alter their sex; but everyone can see his doctor and do something about overweight, smoking, exercise, high blood pressure and high blood cholesterol.

The Colonel said: "The old fashioned women of today tries to make one husband last a lifetime."

RISE IN COST OF LIVING

The Johnson administration's "inflation watch" is being enlivened almost every day with new statistical alarms. Closely monitored economic indexes seem to be moving upward at a pace that many economists interpret as a sign that the country's war-fueled prosperity is getting out of control. Their prescription: stronger counter-inflationary action by the administration, starting with an increase in federal personal and corporate income taxes.

Whatever the eventual decision on fiscal measures, the problem of living costs for consumers promises to figure strongly in the mid-term election campaign next autumn. Public opinion polls seem to confirm the belief of Republican leaders that the American people now view the prospect of rapid inflation as the country's foremost domestic issue. Spokesmen for the Johnson administration argue that the United States still is safely below the threshold of inflationary phenomena. While the argument may be correct for consumer prices as a whole, the most visible kinds of purchases--those at the grocery store--are rising the fastest.

Consumer prices rose at an annual rate of only 1.2 per cent from 1960 to 1964 but at a rate of 2 per cent in 1965. With the Consumer Price Index standing at 111.0 (1957-59=100) last December, it was costing the consumer $11.10 to buy the same "market basket" of 400 goods and services that cost $10 in 1957-59. The index for consumer prices as a whole stopped rising in January 1966 despite a continued increase in the cost of food.

But the index is likely to resume its upward course when the figure for February is released in the next few days. An ominous sign in the trend was seen on March 17 when the Labor Department released the Wholesale Price Index for February, showing a seven-tenths of one per cent jump over the previous month.

Over the last four months, the wholesale index has been rising at an annual rate of more than 6 per cent. Increases in wholesale prices tend to be followed within a few months by consumer price hikes, as both the raw materials and the finished products priced in the wholesale survey move through business channels to ultimate consumers.

Rising costs of living exert greatest impact on persons with fixed incomes composed of savings bank interest, life insurance annuities, pensions or social security benefits. Families of workers whose wages are low also bear a heavy burden during times of inflation, as prices soar in such basic items as food, rent, clothing and medical care.

On the other hand, many wage-earners are relatively untouched by inflation. Labor unions are often able to guarantee annual increases in wages, and some labor contracts contain escalator clauses which automatically compensate for hikes in living costs. In the past 10 years, hourly earnings of factory workers have jumped 41 per cent; in the same period living costs rose 15 per cent. Since 1960, the cost of living has gone up at a rate of about 1.5 per cent a year while weekly wages without fringe benefits have been rising at a 3 per cent annual rate.

Yet the current price situation appears alarming in contrast to the stability that prevailed during the six years preceding 1965. Moreover, history shows that the most violent price fluctuations have coincided with war years and the years following wars. The public and the financial community clearly are frightened about the prospects of an "inflation psychology" accompanying expansion of the Viet Nam conflict in 1966.

President Johnson has promised to act quickly in the field of taxation if the war-fueled boom builds up too much steam. To date, the administration is putting its primary emphasis on getting business and labor to conform to the wage-price guideposts established in 1962. If moral suasion can't keep the price lid down, higher taxes--even wage, price and credit controls--may have to be used to prevent sharp erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar.

The first weather reports sent by telegraph were received and analyzed by Joseph Henry, secretary to the Smithsonian Institution, in 1849.

OUR MISFORTUNE

When Gov. Warren E. Hearnes laid out his program for the special session of the Missouri Legislature, this newspaper voiced doubt that the lawmakers would get around to enacting it all.

It wasn't that we thought the program unworthy; on the contrary, it seemed on the whole to be an excellent one. Nor was it, from our viewpoint, a question of whether it could but if it would be accomplished.

At the time, we noted that, because of redistricting, this was a last term for many of our lawmakers--that some would be embittered by it, that there would be those who would deliberately sabotage, or at least drag their feet on, various programs. We recalled that this would be the last Missouri Legislature heavily loaded in favor of rural areas, that there would be those with private and regional axes to grind as a result.

It appears now that we were quite correct in our predictions. The Associated Press reports that there are legislators who are "bitter at the prospect of losing their single-county seats, and this seems to have generated an 'anti' feeling against the whole executive branch."

In at least one other case, two legislators are to face each other in a race for the new seat created by a merger of old districts; naturally, they debate, argue, disagree--each trying to impress voters back home.

These things are as natural as can be; yet they aren't good statesmanship. Instead, they place individual ambitions and peevishness above the welfare of the people and the state.

It will be too bad if such individual selfishness should prevent the enactment of a good program; and that's precisely what it appears to be doing.

Some of those bills could be worth millions in tax savings, as in the case of the anti-billboard legislation, defeat of which could cost Missouri at least $10 million a year. All have their economic or social worth to Missouri and Missourians.

Are some of them to be lost over personal, petty peeves? It appears so--and if they are, we hope the memories of voters back home are good enough to tab the saboteurs for as long as any of them may attempt to win public office. Springfield Leader-Press

TERMITES

WE DON'T NEED MORE STRIKES

More labor disputes, more strikes and further increases in the cost of just about everything are things we don't need right now or any time for that matter. But some of labor's friends want to give the building trades unions the right to picket an entire construction job even when they are having trouble with just one of the many individual employers on the job.

To get this right to picket the common construction site, there would have to be a change in the law. The present law against secondary boycotts, the Taft-Hartley Act, would have to be repealed and a special exemption granted to the construction unions.

Now this may seem incredible at a time when the building trades unions are already getting such high wages that government and economic leaders have publicly expressed concern; but nevertheless, it's true. Congressman Sikes of Maryland has introduced a bill, H.R. 1007, which would legalize secondary boycotts at construction sites. It has already been approved by the House Labor Committee and has moved high on the agenda of the Rules Committee where the building trades unions say they have the votes to get it out.

The proposed bill is a bad one which would bring confusion and strikes to the entire construction industry. At the very least, missile bases, defense projects, much needed schools and hospitals, should be protected from secondary boycotts. Of course, one way to protect them would be to kill the entire bill.

Weekends are a tragic time on Missouri roadways. The Highway Patrol reports that 555 deaths, or 41 per cent of the total traffic fatalities in Missouri last year, occurred on Saturday and Sundays.

There were 309 traffic deaths on the Saturdays of last year and 246 on Sundays. The month with the most weekend traffic fatalities was May with 63. Second highest was October with 62. July recorded 59 deaths on weekends.

There were only three weekend days when a death on Missouri highways was not recorded.

The weekends so far in 1966 have followed the tragic history of last year. So far, 116 people have died in Missouri traffic on weekends. January had 44 traffic deaths, February, 37, and the first three weekends of March recorded 35. Captain John A. Berglund, of the Patrol's Safety Division, pointed out that there is more traffic over the weekend period and therefore more accidents and deaths.

He said, "Motorists must take an extra effort to do a better job of driving over the weekend, especially during the warm weekends ahead. The exposure to auto collisions is greater in the spring and summer due to the increase in traffic."

"To combat this situation there must be more alertness, more caution, more courtesy and more common sense on the part of everyone using the streets and highways during this period," the Captain concluded.

YOU ARE YOUR IMAGE

Down in the Ozarks they tell a story about a hillbilly who went to an auction and saw his first mirror. When he looked into it he thought it was a picture of his "dear old pappy." He bought the mirror for seventy-five cents. He put it up in the attic where he could frequently sneak away to admire what he thought was a picture of his old pappy. His wife missing him around, became suspicious. So one day while her husband was out hoeing the corn she went up to the attic and took a look. As she peered into the mirror, she exclaimed: "Ah ha! There is the old hag he is running around with."

You may not recognize yourself in the mirror of life, but you ARE your image. You go forth to people through your appearance, your thoughts, your emotions, your words and acts. You spend your lifetime shaping your image, as a sculptor creates a statue. Your image is the sum total of the way you think, the impressions you've received, the life you have lived. Our real selves cannot be hidden. We cannot live behind a facade. People find us out. "What you are," said Emerson "thunders so loud I can't hear what you say to the contrary."

JUST A LITTLE CHEATING
Carol was furious when she came home unexpectedly and caught her Harry in bed with a lady midget.

"You promised me two weeks ago that you would never cheat on me again," she stormed. Harry shrugged his shoulders and murmured after a while, "Well, as you can see, I'm tapering off."

An actor, though caught in his drawers, Went on lovemaking without a pause. Though the husband cried, "Nay!" He performed through the day And finished to grudging applause.

JET-AGE JUKE BOX
There is nothing sacred, it would seem, in the Age of Technology. Now it's the turn of the cherished juke box to struggle with the obsolescence that did in the trolley car, the horse buggy and spats.

The threat to the juke box derives from a pincers attack planned by Frenchmen and Americans. Actually, they do not intend to eliminate music from public places, but to endow the juke box with the dimension of sight. It seems that in the little town of Defiance, Ohio, there's a company named Defiance Industries. This is a diversified manufacturer of automatic and hand-cranked machine parts for the automotive, appliance, oil well and miscellaneous trades. Prosaic Defiance, in collaboration with the French, is readying a new stimulant for American patrons of cocktail lounges and bars: to the kick from a cocktail may be added Brigitte Bardot, Sophia Loren and (pour les femmes, as they never say in Defiance) Jean-Pierre Aumont and Sacha Distel. Known as Cinematic, the Franco-American device is a compact coin-operated motion-picture machine that will present color film on a 25-inch screen. It will feature panoramic vision and offer patrons 28 different 16 mm films with magnetic sound track. Average length of each film is little less than 2 minutes.

The election is over, but we urge a write-in vote: Demand of Defiance Industries that long-suffering American adults not be subjected to seeing the Beatles, from whom parents have suffered enough already aurally. Let our slogan be: "Brightie, yes; Beatles, no!"

DOUBTFUL TRUCK USER
The sergeant was instructing the fledgling paratrooper before his first jump. "Count ten and pull the first rip cord. If it doesn't work, pull the second rip cord for the auxiliary chute. After you land, a truck will pick you up."

The paratrooper jumped, counted ten and pulled the first cord. Nothing happened. He pulled the second cord, and nothing happened. He then said to himself, "I bet that darn truck won't be there either."

TALKING BACK
Dedicated to the proposition that most people have levels of intelligence and taste higher than many advertisers seem to think, a small group of people got together in San Francisco recently to do something about it.

They formed an organization named C.O.R.A. -- Citizens' Opinions Regarding Advertising. The basic philosophy of the founders is that advertising serves a worthwhile function in the economy when it is truthful, informative or, as sometimes happens, entertaining.

But they strongly object to advertising that is harassing, boisterous, in bad taste or just plain intellectually insulting.

They believe there are enough likeminded people around the country to constitute a membership that will be a broadly based cross-section of the population. The purpose of C.O.R.A. is to open up a channel of communication to the corporate top level through which individuals can express themselves collectively.

C.O.R.A. officials believe that most advertising people don't really want to be irritating and that astute advertisers will stop paying them to be so once the voice of the people gets through to them.

"How do you punctuate this sentence: fun fun fun worry worry?"

Answer: "Fun period, fun period, fun no period; worry, worry, worry?"

Some men defy old age; they still believe they are as good as they never were.

VISIBILITY ZERO

"The Air Force, in its magnificent accomplishments in the wild blue yonder, has tended to ignore the foot soldiers in the dirty brown under."

This is the punchline of a report released by Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., who headed a House Armed Services subcommittee hearing last fall into charges that air support of ground troops in Viet Nam left something to be desired.

The subcommittee zeros in on the Air Force for failing to develop the necessary aircraft and tactics and the Defense Department for "overstudying" and "underdeciding."

"Perhaps the most appalling fact," says the subcommittee, "was that until very recently the Air Force... could not talk to the Army on the ground because the Air Force radios were not compatible with the Army radios."

The congressmen found this incredible in view of the fact that close air support has been a tactical doctrine since before World War II.

They also found that the Air Force has not designed any ground-support aircraft since World War II and has been forced to borrow Navy attack planes and Army observation planes in Viet Nam.

Apparently the Air Force has taken too much to heart the warnings of respected military men that this nation should not become involved in a land war in Asia. It is not prepared for a land war anywhere.

Where are the billions of yesterday?

TOAST TIME

WASHINGTON -- The big break between Communist China and Communist Russia has been shimmering a long time and its culmination constitutes the most important political development of the year.

Whenever the feud has come to the surface so the Western World could see it, the basic issues have been over the question of atomic war and co-existence with the United States.

The first sign of friction between these two giants of Communism came in 1956, when at the 20th Party Congress in Moscow Khrushchev put the Soviet on record against atomic war and outlined his theory that economic achievement was more important than military achievement.

This was 12 months after he had conferred with President Eisenhower at the Geneva Summit Conference in 1955, agreed to the principle of people-to-people friendship, and seemed convinced that he wanted peace.

Again, in 1959, after Khrushchev conferred at length with Eisenhower at Camp David, friction with the Chinese flared again. They had warned him one year earlier against going to New York for a UN meeting. Khrushchev listened, called it off.

But in 1959 he became more and more convinced that the peace of the world depended on collaboration between Moscow and Washington. So this time he did not call off the trip to Washington. One week afterward, however, he flew to Peking to report to the Chinese on his talks with Eisenhower. Chinese leaders failed to meet him at the airport, were deliberately rude.

"STOOGES OF USA"
Two years later, after the 22nd Party Congress in Moscow, October, 1961, I reported that Khrushchev's old political enemy, Foreign Minister Molotov, had lined up on the side of the Chinese and against co-existence. Molotov wrote a letter to the Central Committee stating: "Without adversity, without war, there can be no real advance toward Communism."

I reported further that Molotov was summoned back to Moscow from his job in Vienna and fired. The Chinese, led by Premier Chou En-lai, walked out of the conference and went home.

Again the basic issue was peace or war with the United States.

Next year, after I interviewed President Tito of Yugoslavia, the Chinese let loose a 5,000-word editorial blast at Tito for urging peace with the United States and for giving an interview to "an imperialist newspaperman." They called Tito a "stooge" for the imperialist American military," claimed he was a "revisionist," which in Communist jargon means a traitor, a reviser of Lenin's doctrine for a military showdown with capitalism.

One year later, 1963, Khrushchev signed a test-ban treaty with the United States. The Chinese refused to sign, and issued more blasts against Khrushchev for being a "stooge" of the United States.

TEN-YEAR BATTLE
Such has been the running battle between the Chinese and the Russians for the last ten years. The Chinese summed it up this way in their letter to the Russians dated last week: "You have worked hand in hand with the United States in a whole series of dirty deals inside and outside the United Nations. In close cooperation with the counter-revolutionary global strategy of American imperialism you are now actively trying to build a ring of encirclement around socialist China."

The big question diplomats are asking today is: Should the United States and Russia get together? Since they are blamed for collaborating and since the Chinese still do not recognize coexistence, should the USA and USSR cooperate to

RAIL RATES GO DOWN
A few -- a very few -- things cost less now than they did some years ago.

Railroad freight charges are one of them. Since 1958, the Association of American Railroads reports, these charges have declined an average of 13 per cent. In the same period, consumer prices as a whole rose 7 per cent.

One reason for the downtrend in rail rates lies in an overhauling of the railroad price structure in which rates based on the value of shipped goods gradually are giving way to rates based more on shipping costs and competitive reality. Then changing railroad technology, undertaken at a vast cost, has led to dramatic improvements in the complex art of moving goods by rail.

A spokesman for the Association says: "Further progress in reducing competitive freight rates is heavily dependent on what happens to President Johnson's Budget Message call for 'revising the traditional government programs of regulation... to place greater reliance on the forces of free competition.'" The railroads are doing everything in their power to provide the ultimate in transportation service. It is the government's turn to help, by bringing regulatory policies into balance with the realities of the time.

H. L. Hunt Says

RELIGION AND THE ALMIGHTY STATE

The almighty state can allow no rival to itself, either on this earth or beyond. Every dictator, having conquered the land and people he rules, aspires to conquer the whole world. Every dictator, heady with power, would like to think of himself, and to be thought of, as a kind of god in human form.

That is why the struggle between religion and the almighty state has been one of the great themes of history. Unable to crush religion or drive faith from the minds of their subjects, many rulers have tried to form an alliance with it and thus control church-goers as they control citizens. Sometimes this has worked. More often it has not, and the state church loses all vitality while the people seek out a church that is free.

Well aware of the dangers of the church - state alliance and government domination of churches, the founders of our country established an irrevocable separation between church and state. Of course, they never dreamed that this separation would be extended to banning even the simplest religious observances in public schools.

In Russia, and in several of her Eastern European satellites, there is an official government - controlled church which is permitted to exist, though atheism is the approved creed. But this does not satisfy the people. Many still hold to a higher loyalty, and look far beyond the commissar for the sources of right and truth.

Thus a spark of hope is kept alive even in the darkest night. We should do all we can to help keep it burning. HLH

Dr. William Rule III Missionary To Be Principal Speaker

The 72nd annual meeting of the Women of the Church of the Presbytery of Potosi will be held at the Hunter Memorial Presbyterian church Thursday. Registration will be at 9 a.m. followed by a coffee hour with the call to order at 10 a.m. by Presbyterial president, Mrs. Hal H. McHaney. The theme of the meeting will be "God's People -- the Church in the World."

Guest speakers will be Mrs. Ellsworth Haas, Synodical president; Mrs. William Schottanus of Kansas City, who will speak on the 1966 Birthday Objective; Dr. Fred Walker, director of Presbyterian Home-life and the Children's Home at Farmington and the Rev. H. Thomas Foley of Jackson.

The principal address will be given by Dr. William Rule III, who has been a medical missionary to the Congo for 12 years, Presbyterian church in the U.S. since 1940 and is presently the director of a new medical school in Congo's Kasai province.

Under Dr. Rule's leadership, the Christian Medical Institute of the Kasai began classes in 1964 with 38 students enrolled. Besides his duties at the medical school, Dr. Rule has flown a plane on a regular schedule to supervise the work at seven outstation dispensaries.

During the tense period prior to Congo's independence in 1960 the American missionaries were forced to evacuate by consular order.

The first missionary to return from the United States after independence, Dr. Rule became executive secretary of the Congo Protestant Relief Agency in Leopoldville.

From 1962 to 1964, Dr. Rule carried a heavy clinical load in the busy 100-bed hospital in Lubundi where he participated in an active program including surgery, obstetrics, pediatrics and general medicine.

Dr. Rule is a native of Knoxville, Tenn., where he is an elder in the First Presbyterian church. He is a graduate of Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., and the University of Pennsylvania medical school in Philadelphia. He has also

By Hildred Poole
Hello! Guess What? We're going to have a ladies Bowl-a-thon. For the last two years we have had one and thought that this year was going by without one, but going to Jackson last Saturday two of the girls said they would help get sponsors and so another Bowl-a-thon is in the works. The date set is April 15th. Twenty-four ladies will bowl 25 games and we get started about 10:30 p.m. We should finish about breakfast time the next morning. There will be more about this later, but be sure and keep that date in mind and come on out and give us a cheering squad.

Not only do I have my Daddy bowling, but now Mother is trying it to. We were at the lanes and when I went in to talk with Glenda about the Bowl-a-thon she decided to try it. The first ball she threw was a strike and she picked up a spare the next frame. She only bowled a few frames but I think she enjoyed it a great deal. Sandy York has persuaded her mother, Alma, to join her on the Tuesday night Imperialetts league and now she also has her Daddy out bowling too. I think it is very nice to have our parents out with us, and we do enjoy being them.

Twedy York has been bowling again and the first thing he asked me Tuesday night was if I wanted his score. He rolled a 75. This four year old does pretty good. He wanted his picture in the paper but we'll have to see about that.

TUESDAY HOUSEWIVES
Whiffles 3 -- Road Runners; Alley Cats 3 -- Ten Pins 1; Strikers 3 -- Pin Ups 1; Town and Country 3 -- Hecklers 1; High rollers were: series, Jean Lee, 507; Betty Estes, 507; Mickey Holyfield, 517; and Lil Acord, 522. High game was a 199 by Betty Estes.

NEWCOMERS
Team No. 5-3 -- Team No. 6-1; Team No. 3-4 -- Team No. 4-0; Team No. 1-4 -- Team No. 2-0; Teams 7 and 8 did not bowl this week. High rollers were series: Mary Bain and Ruth Tucker tied with a 472. Ruth Tucker took high game with a 182. Patti Belt had an odd series with a 133-130-127.

IMPERIALETTES
A & B 3 -- Bellones 1; Krogger 4 -- Progressive 0; Crown 3 -- Standard 1; L & A 3 -- Deline 1.

I don't know how it happened but I had high game and series this week with a 187 and 489 series. It has been quite a while studied at Tulane University, New Orleans, La., in the department of tropical diseases.

Dr. and Mrs. Rule have a family of six children. They are presently on a one year furlough and expect to return to the Congo this summer.

Mrs. Mildred Robinson has acted as local Presbyterial chairman assisted by Mrs. Virginia Moser and Mrs. Edwin Willis. Mrs. Robert Hope is the local W. O. C. president.

since high series was less than 500. Guess every one had an off night.

DELTA KEGGLERS
Potlatch 4 -- Reiss 0; Barketts 3 -- Campbell Farms 1; Ziegenhorn 3 -- Liberty 1; Wades 3 -- El Capri 1.
Lil Acord had a 517, Thelma Hampton a 518, but Jean Lee topped them with a 524 series. Jeanie also rolled high game with a 200.

ROYAL KEGGLERS
Lewis 4 -- Puckett 0; Bank of Sikeston 3 -- Mutual of Omaha 1; Deb Ellen 3 -- Alcorn 1; Busch 3 -- 1st. National Bank 1; Holyfield 2 -- Ferrell 2. Johnnie Dacus took both highs this week with a 217 game and a 546 series.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES
E. P. Coleman 4 -- Canvas 0; Vogue 4 -- Rudy's 0; Medical Arts 3 -- Shys 1; I. Shoe Co. No. 1-3 -- I. Shoe Co. No. 3-1; Proffers 2 -- Hambys 2; Ziegenhorn 2 -- I. Shoe Co. No. 2 -- 2.

I think somebody up there likes me because I did it again in this league with a very lucky 192 game and 546 series. It is hard to understand this crazy game where one day you can do real good and other days nothing. Guess that is what keeps us trying again and again.

Splits picked up: Technically any time the head pin is standing it is not a split but Dorothy Pratt picked up the 1-10 Friday night, and in my book it should be a split. Louise Cates, Mary Phelps 2 -- 7; Glenda Gardner 3 -- Delcie Helms 3-10; Virginia Dixon, Birdie Curry, Jean Lee 5-10; Ruby Ann Abbott, Sally Beckman, Dorothy Cauthorn, Genice Latham 5-7; Mildred Cockrell, Jo Whitledge, June Watson, 5-8-10; Kay Jackson, Pat Bridger 4-5; Billie Waldron 8-9; Mildred Cockrell 5-6; Bernice Sanders 4-10; Flora Young 3-7-10; Lil Acord, Audrey Simpson 6-7-10.

WELCOME WAGON CLUB INSTALLS New Officers
The Welcome Wagon Club held its monthly meeting March 14 at the First National Bank community room. Marjorie Stone, Norma Blankenship and Jane Gemeinhardt were introduced as new members. Mrs. Bess Boring attended as a guest.

Girl Scout Cadet Troop No. 134 and leader, Mrs. Jesse Young, gave a short program. Nell Winstead presided over the short business meeting. Jeanette Waldman installed the new officers for the coming year.

Those installed were Mollie Hogan, president; Sally Beckman, first vice president; Wanda Williams, second vice president; Linda Nelson, secretary; Evelyn Agnew, treasurer and Bonnie Collins, historian. Nell Winstead, retiring president, was presented a gift for her service during the past year.

Refreshments were served and the members enjoyed cards the remainder of the evening. Evelyn Agnew won the door prize. High in canasta was won by Linda Nelson. Judy Humphrey won high in bridge and Marjorie Stone won high in pinochle.

Keglers Korner

By Hildred Poole
Hello! Guess What? We're going to have a ladies Bowl-a-thon. For the last two years we have had one and thought that this year was going by without one, but going to Jackson last Saturday two of the girls said they would help get sponsors and so another Bowl-a-thon is in the works. The date set is April 15th. Twenty-four ladies will bowl 25 games and we get started about 10:30 p.m. We should finish about breakfast time the next morning. There will be more about this later, but be sure and keep that date in mind and come on out and give us a cheering squad.

Not only do I have my Daddy bowling, but now Mother is trying it to. We were at the lanes and when I went in to talk with Glenda about the Bowl-a-thon she decided to try it. The first ball she threw was a strike and she picked up a spare the next frame. She only bowled a few frames but I think she enjoyed it a great deal. Sandy York has persuaded her mother, Alma, to join her on the Tuesday night. Imperialett league and now she also has her Daddy out bowling too. I think it is very nice to have our parents out with us, and we do enjoy being them.

Tweedy York has been bowling again and the first thing he asked me Tuesday night was if I wanted his score. He rolled a 75. This four year old does pretty good. He wanted his picture in the paper but we'll have to see about that.

TUESDAY HOUSEWIVES
Whiffles 3 -- Road Runners; Alley Cats 3 -- Ten Pins 1; Strikers 3 -- Pin Ups 1; Town and Country 3 -- Hecklers 1; High rollers were: series, Jean Lee, 507; Betty Estes, 507; Mickey Holyfield, 517; and Lil Acord, 522. High game was a 199 by Betty Estes.

NEWCOMERS
Team No. 5-3 -- Team No. 6-1; Team No. 3-4 -- Team No. 4-0; Team No. 1-4 -- Team No. 2-0; Teams 7 and 8 did not bowl this week. High rolled were series Mary Bain and Ruth Tucker tied with a 472. Ruth Tucker took high game with a 182. Patty Bell had an odd series with a 133-130-127.

IMPERIALETTES
A & B 3 -- Belltones 1; Krogger 4 -- Progressive 0; Crown 3 -- Standard 1; L & A 3 -- Deline 1.

I don't know how it happened but I had high game and series this week with a 187 and 489 series. It has been quite a while studied at Tulane University, New Orleans, La., in the department of tropical diseases. Dr. and Mrs. Rule have a family of six children. They are presently on a one year furlough and expect to return to the Congo this summer.

Mrs. Mildred Robinson has acted as local Presbyterian chairman assisted by Mrs. Virginia Moser and Mrs. Edwin Willis. Mrs. Robert Hope is the local W. O. C. president.

since high series was less than 500. Guess every one had an off night.

DELTA KEGLERS
Potlatch 4 -- Reiss 0; Barketts 3 -- Campbell Farms 1; Ziegenhorn 3 -- Liberty 1; Wades 3 -- El Capri 1.

Lil Acord had a 517, Thelma Hampton a 518, but Jean Lee topped them with a 524 series. Jeanie also rolled high game with a 200.

ROYAL KEGLERS
Lewis 4 -- Puckett 0; Bank of Sikeston 3 -- Mutual of Omaha 1; Deb Ellen 3 -- Alcorn 1; Busch 3 -- 1st. National Bank 1; Holyfield 2 -- Ferrell 2; Johnnie Dacus took both highs this week with a 217 game and a 546 series.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES
E. P. Coleman 4 -- Canvas 0; Vogue 4 -- Rudys 0; Medical Arts 3 -- Shys 1; I. Shoe Co. No. 1-3 -- I. Shoe Co. No. 3-1; Proffers 2 -- Hambys 2; Ziegenhorn 2 -- I. Shoe Co. No. 2 -- 2.

I think somebody up there likes me because I did it again in this league with a very lucky 192 game and 546 series. It is hard to understand this crazy game where one day you can do real good and other days nothing. Guess that is what keeps us trying again and again.

Spills picked up. Technically any time the head pin is standing it is not a split but Dorothy Pratt picked up the 1-10 Friday night, and in my book it should be a split. Louise Cates, Mary Phelps 2 -- 7; Glenda Gardner 3 -- Delcie Helms 3-10; Virginia Dixon, Birdie Curry, Jean Lee 5-10; Ruby Ann Abbott, Sally Beckman, Dorothy Cauthorn, Genice Latham 5-7; Mildred Cockrell, Jo Whitledge, June Watson, 5-8-10; Kay Jackson, Pat Bridger 4-5; Billie Waldron 8-9; Mildred Cockrell 5-6; Bernice Sanders 4-10; Flora Young 3-7-10; Lil Acord, Audrey Simpson 6-7-10.

WELCOME WAGON Club Installs New Officers
The Welcome Wagon Club held its monthly meeting March 14 at the First National Bank community room. Marjorie Stone, Norma Blankenship and Jane Gemeinhart were introduced as new members. Mrs. Bess Boing attended as a guest.

Girl Scout Cadet Troop No. 134 and leader, Mrs. Jesse Young, gave a short program. Nell Winstead presided over the short business meeting. Jeanette Waldman installed the new officers for the coming year.

Those installed were Mollie Hogan, president; Sally Beckman, first vice president; Wanda Williams, second vice president; Linda Nelson, secretary; Evelyn Agnew, treasurer and Bonnie Collins, historian. Nell Winstead, retiring president, was presented a gift for her service during the past year.

Refreshments were served and the members enjoyed cards the remainder of the evening.

Evelyn Agnew won the door prize. High in canasta was won by Linda Nelson. Judy Humphrey won high in bridge and Marjorie Stone won high in pinocle.

EGG SIZE DOESN'T DENOTE QUALITY

If you buy only the biggest eggs you can find at the store, attempting to get the most for your money, you may be making a mistake.

For there is more to an egg than its size. Quality must be considered. Egg graders with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service have special ratings for these factors.

Egg quality is graded U.S. Grade AA or Fresh Fancy Quality, U.S. Grade A and U.S. Grade B. These quality grades depend upon shell characteristics, spread of the egg when broken, thickness of the white and firmness and size of the yolk.

However, sizes are based on weight alone. They include Jumbo, Extra Large, Large, Medium, Small and Peewee. Most common are Extra Large eggs which weigh 27 ounces per dozen; Large eggs, which weigh 24 ounces; Mediums, 21 ounces; and Small eggs, 18 ounces.

The next time you reach for a carton of eggs, remember that big eggs are not necessarily top quality, nor small eggs of lower quality.

And the USDA suggests that right now is an excellent time to reach for several cartons of eggs, as a plentiful supply is expected to make for more attractive prices.

Cards Blank Mets Behind Washburn's Five Hit Pitching

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. -- If Ray Washburn performs as effectively during the National League season as he has this spring, Cardinal pitching can expect a king-sized shot in the arm.	WILLIAMS 2b	1	0	0
How much better will it be? "A whole lot," said Manager Red Schoendienst Monday after the comeback righthander became the first St. Louis moundsman to travel seven innings in a 3-0 exhibition triumph over the New York Mets.	Maxville ss	4	1	1

NBA OUTLOOK

By EDSCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are three players and two coaches who especially would like to win the National Basketball Association playoffs because they won't be back next season, and one coach who might have to win if he wants to return.

The outcome of games Wednesday night when the best-of-five semifinals resume should determine which ones get their wish, or at least keep that wish alive.

Jack McMahon of the Royals is the coach on the spot. There were reports before the playoffs that McMahon might be on the way out. But his job should be safe if the Royals win the NBA championship or even make a good run at it.

The beginning or the beginning of the end of the drive by the Royals, whose veteran forward Jack Twyman is retiring, will come when they meet the Celtics at Cincinnati.

The Royals hold a 2-1 lead--both victories were at Boston and the loss at home--and a triumph will send them into the Eastern final against Philadelphia and end the coaching career of retiring Red Auerbach, who will remain as Celtics' general manager.

However, a loss will put Boston in the driver's seat since it is unlikely the Celtics would lose three straight at home.

Cincinnati could be in trouble if Jerry Lucas can't play. He injured a knee Sunday in the Royals' 113-107 victory in which he played a key role.

St. Louis, whose player-coach Richie Guerin will only coach next season, leads Baltimore 2-0--both victories coming at Baltimore. Cliff Hagan of St. Louis also is calling it quits as a player.

There is a possibility Gus Johnson, a jumping-jack forward, who missed the last several games with a knee injury, might return to the Baltimore line-up, and this could be the spark the Bullets need to extend Paul Seymour's coaching tenure at least one game. Seymour resigned Monday to devote more time to his business interests.

Title Fight Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

TORONTO AP -- Cassius Clay, in what could be his last fight for at least two years, risks his share of the world heavyweight title tonight against Canada's George Chuvalo in a 15-rounder that figures to be as one-sided as a fox hunt.

The undefeated, 24-year-old flash from Louisville, Ky., rates at the 7-1 favorite over the plodding, 28-year-old, 11-times-beaten Canadian champion. There has been very little betting on the fight, according to bookmakers here.

Although Toronto is Chuvalo's hometown, the Ontario Athletic Commission is not recognizing the bout as a title contest. The commission is a member of the World Boxing Association which recognizes Ernie Terrell of Chicago as its champion.

But if the bull-necked Chuvalo, who never has been knocked off his feet, should get lucky and win, there's no doubt that he will be considered the champion everywhere but in WBA territory.

Fight time is 10:30 p.m., EST.

Chuvale, the father of four boys, finished training on an optimistic and cheerful note. The Canadian is as happy as a kid with a new sled who has just been told school has been closed because of a heavy snowfall. Chuvalo never thought he would get the title shot and his biggest purse ever, one that could range from $50,000 to more than $100,000 depending on the gross gate at the Maple Leaf Gardens and the closed-circuit television receipts in the United States and Canada.

Chuvalo, fresh from defeats by Terrell here in November and by Eduardo Corleiti, an Argentine unknown in London last Jan. 25, fell into the Clay fight by luck. Terrell withdrew from the title showdown with Clay because his guarantee was slashed.

Clay, anxious to fight before he makes a final appeal from the draft soon, quickly accepted Chuvalo as a substitute opponent. The Canadian, ranked 10th by the WBA and ninth by Ring Magazine, said yes as quickly as a homely spinster to a marriage proposal.

"I'm not scared of him," said Chuvalo. "He can be taken. No body has ever roughed Clay or banged him around to any degree at all. I know this--if I can hit him, I can hurt him. If he carries the fight to me, I'll knock him out."

"If there's going to be any dirty fighting, he's going to be in real trouble," said Clay. "If I get mad, the fight will be over real quick. I hope to knock him out anyway. Nobody's ever had him on the floor so if I can knock him out I feel I will have accomplished something."

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer-manager, predicted Clay would knock out the sturdy, game challenger in about eight rounds.

"Chuvalo is a tough guy who would fight a lion, but Cassius is a great boxer and puncher," said Dundee.

Chuvalo is a plodder who moves straight in on an opponent, aiming to wear him down with body punches. Although he has 27 knockouts to his credit in posting a 34-11-2 won-lost-draw record, he is not rated a strong puncher.

"Let's face it," said Irv Ungerman, Chuvalo's manager, "George has to knock him out to win. He can do it."

Clay, a pro 5 1/2 years, has a 22-0 record, including 18 knock-outs.

"I don't think he's that good a puncher," said Chuvalo. Promoters here estimate a crowd of about 10,000 and a

Dodgers Manage Only 2 Runners And No Hits

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale picked the wrong day to begin their screen careers. They were upstaged by a couple of left-handed method actors and a hidden-ball trickster.

While Koufax and Drysdale, Los Angeles' heralded holdout twins, checked into a Hollywood film studio Monday to prepare for their upcoming movie roles, Pittsburgh southpaws Bob Veale and Luke Walker collaborated for a 5-0 no-hit victory over the stage-struck Dodgers at Fort Myers, Fla.

And, at Phoenix, Ariz., the Chicago Cubs almost fooled the San Francisco Giants with a zany variation of the old hidden-ball trick, outfielder George Altman providing the sleight-of-hand.

Veale, the Pirates' bespectacled, 6-foot-6 fireballer, set down the Dodgers for seven innings, and Walker, a 22-year-old rookie, completed the no-hitter against the six batters he faced.

The Dodgers, who have dropped 11 of 16 spring games and have been shut out in three, managed only two base-runners. Tommy Davis was safe on an error in the fifth inning and Veale walked Jeff Torborg in the sixth. Willie Stargell made a lunging catch of Maury Wills' liner in the first inning, but the Dodgers hit only three other balls out of the infield.

Gene Allee led the Pittsburgh attack with four hits, and Roberto Clemente had three.

Veale, 17-12 last season--and No. 3 strikeout artist in the majors with 276 -- pitched a one-hitter against Philadelphia Sept. 19. Walker was 12-7, with 197 strikeouts, for Asheville of the Southern League.

The Cubs played now-you-see-it now-you-don't with the Giants in the seventh inning of a game won by San Francisco 6-8.

Rookie Byron Browne crashed against the center-field fence chasing Jim Hart's long drive, then turned and threw to the

The ball Proski surrendered was spotted; the ball thrown by Browne was grass-stained green from heavy use. Browne had picked up a ball left on the field after batting practice.

Hart was awarded a ground-rule double, leaving Franks one-up on his old boss, Leo Durocher, the Cubs' plot.

The New York Yankees snapped the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak 4-1 as Roger Maris hit his first spring homer and Clete Boyer clubbed his fourth. St. Louis blanked the New York Mets 3-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Ray Washburn and Tracy Stallard.

Cincinnati topped Atlanta 5-3 on Tommy Helms' two-run single in the eighth. Jim Maloney yielded one run in three innings -- his first appearance for the Reds. Philadelphia trimmed Baltimore 5-3 on the tight pitching of Ray Culp and Darold Knowles.

California blasted Cleveland 11-1, Ed Kirkpatrick pacing a 14-hit assault with a single, double and homer. Bob Chance drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly as Washington edged Minnesota 3-2, and Eddie Kasko's inside-the-park grand slam homer led Houston past its Oklahoma City farm club 6-1.

Parma, Essex, and Vanduser Take First Round Wins

ESSEX -- Parma, Essex, and Vanduser placed first round wins in the start of the Independent tournament here last night.

Parma beat Sikeston (Kindle's) 129-63, Essex downed Dexter 82-69 and ending the night's action was Vanduser romping over East Prairie 97-79.

In the first game of the evening Parma led from the opening tip off as they held a 59-22 first half lead and poured on the steam the second half, outscoring their opponents 71 points to 41.

Stan Whitson and Tom Daniels led the Parma attack with 21 and 17 points respectively. Parma had seven players scoring in double figures, Kindal and Parsley led Sikeston scores with 15 points each.

In the second game of the evening Essex won over Dexter 82-69 with Walters leading the way in the Essex victory with 29 points and was followed by Early and M. Williamson gross gate of between $150,000 and $200,000 at prices ranging from $7 to $100. Main Bout, Inc., which owns the ancillary rights, estimates about $300,000 will go into the pot in which the fighters share. That could mean a $250,000 gross to Clay and $100,000 to Chuvalo.

Scoring will be by the five-point must system with the winner getting five points a round and the loser four or less.

Former St. Louis Brown Standout To Be Honored With 11 Former Greats

As a special feature, George Sisler, a standout with the St. Louis Browns for 12 years, will be honored along with 11 former Cardinal greats at the Red Birds' first 11 games of the season, the Cardinals announced today.

A committee of sportswriters and announcers, headed by C. C. Johnson Spink, publisher and editor of The Sporting News, selected the Cardinal stars, one of whom will be present to relive some memorable moments in his career at each game the Cardinals play in the historic ballpark that has been their home since 1920.

Sisler was named by the Cardinals to join this selected group because he is regarded as the greatest of all the Browns and one of the finest players ever to perform at Busch Stadium.

The date when each player will be honored will be announced later.

The Cardinals open the season on April 12, against Philadelphia, and will play Pittsburgh, New York and San Francisco before they move downtown to the new Busch Memorial Stadium.

Race Driver Can't Recall Fatal Crash

SEBRING, FLA. (AP) --Don Wester was at the wheel of a car that killed four spectators during Saturday's 12-hour Sebring sports car race, but he doesn't remember slashing into the crowd.

"He remembers what happened just before the crash," said Hushchke Von Hanstein, manager of the Porche factory team for which Wester drove. "And he remembers them cutting him out of the car. But he remembers nothing in between."

Wester's car collided with a Ferrari, then hurtled through a fence and into a small group of spectators outside the race course. The shock of the experience put him in the hospital.

Cards Blank Mets Behind Washburn's Five Hit Pitching

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. -- If Ray Washburn performs as effectively during the National League season as he has this spring, Cardinal pitching can expect a king-sized shot in the arm.

How much better will it be? "A whole lot," said Manager Red Schoendienst Monday after the comeback righthander became the first St. Louis moundman to travel seven innings in a 3-0 exhibition triumph over the New York Mets.

Tracey Stallard, resuming where Washburn left off, finished zeroing his old colleagues for a combined six-hitter at Lang Field. The Cardinals, improving their Grapefruit record to 10-7 with their seventh triumph in eight games, collected only six hits themselves.

But the Red Birds didn't need much of an offense, with Washburn bearing down on one of his favorite pasties. After all, he owns a 7-1 lifetime record against West Westminster's club.

NBA OUTLOOK

By EDSCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
There are three players and two coaches who especially would like to win the National Basketball Association playoffs because they won't be back next season, and one coach who might have to win if he wants to return.

The outcome of games Wednesday night when the best-of-five semifinals resume should determine which ones get their wish, or at least keep that wish alive.

Jack McMahon of the Royals is the coach on the spot. There were reports before the playoffs that McMahon might be on the way out. But his job should be safe if the Royals win the NBA championship or even make a good run at it.

The beginning or the beginning of the end of the drive by the Royals, whose veteran forward Jack Twyman is retiring, will come when they meet the Celtics at Cincinnati.

The Royals hold a 2-1 lead--both victories were at Boston and the loss at home--and a triumph will send them into the Eastern final against Philadelphia and end the coaching career of retiring Red Auerbach, who will remain as Celtics' general manager.

However, a loss will put Boston in the driver's seat since it is unlikely the Celtics would lose three straight at home. Cincinnati could be in trouble if Jerry Lucas can't play. He injured a knee Sunday in the Royals' 113-107 victory in which he played a key role.

St. Louis, whose player-coach Richie Guerin will only coach next season, leads Baltimore 2-0--both victories coming at Baltimore. Cliff Hagan of St. Louis also is calling it quits as a player.

There is a possibility Gus Johnson, a jumping-jack forward, who missed the last several games with a knee injury, might return to the Baltimore line-up, and this could be the spark the Bullets need to extend Paul Seymour's coaching tenure at least one season. Seymour resigned Monday to devote more time to his business interests.

The first ten Commandments are the hardest.

Title Fight Tonight

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
TORONTO AP -- Cassius Clay, in what could be his last fight for at least two years, risks his share of the world heavyweight title tonight against Canada's George Chuvalo in a 15-rounder that figures to be as one-sided as a fox hunt.

The undefeated, 24-year-old flash from Louisville, Ky., rates at the 7-1 favorite over the plodding, 28-year-old, 11-times-beaten Canadian champion. There has been very little betting on the fight, according to bookmakers here.

Although Toronto is Chuvalo's hometown, the Ontario Athletic Commission is not recognizing the bout as a title contest. The commission is a member of the World Boxing Association which recognizes Ernie Terrell of Chicago as its champion.

But if the bull-necked Chuvalo, who never has been knocked off his feet, should get lucky and win, there's no doubt that he will be considered the champion everywhere but in WBA territory.

Fight time is 10:30 p.m., EST. Chuvalo, the father of four boys, finished training on an optimistic and cheerful note.

The Canadian is as happy as a kid with a new sled who has just been told school has been closed because of a heavy snowfall. Chuvalo never thought he would get the title shot and his biggest purse ever, one that could range from $50,000 to more than $100,000 depending on the gross gate at the Maple Leaf Gardens and the closed-circuit television receipts in the United States and Canada.

Chuvalo, fresh from defeats by Terrell here in November and by Eduardo Corrietti, an Argentine unknown in London last Jan. 25, fell into the Clay fight by luck. Terrell withdrew from the title showdown with Clay because his guarantee was slashed.

Clay, anxious to fight before he makes a final appeal from the draft soon, quickly accepted Chuvalo as a substitute opponent. The Canadian, ranked 10th by the WBA and ninth by Ring Magazine, said yes as quickly as a homely spinster to a marriage proposal.

"I'm not scared of him," said Chuvalo. "He can be taken. Nobody has ever roughed Clay or banged him around to any degree at all. I know this--if I can hit him, I can hurt him. If he carries the fight to me, I'll knock him out."

"If there's going to be any dirty fighting, he's going to be in real trouble," said Clay. "If I get mad, the fight will be over real quick. I hope to knock him out anyway. Nobody's ever had him on the floor so if I can knock him out I feel I will have accomplished something."

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer-manager, predicted Clay would knock out the sturdy, game challenger in about eight rounds.

"Chuvalo is a tough guy who would fight a lion, but Cassius is a great boxer and puncher," said Dundee.

Chuvalo is a plodder who moves straight in on an opponent, aiming to wear him down with body punches. Although he has 27 knockouts to his credit in posting a 34-11-2 won-lost-draw record, he is not rated a strong puncher.

"Let's face it," said Irv Ungerman, Chuvalo's manager, "George has to knock him out to win. He can do it."

Clay, a pro 5 1/2 years, has a 22-0 record, including 18 knock-outs.

"I don't think he's that good a puncher," said Chuvalo. Promoters here estimate a crowd of about 10,000 and a gross gate of between $150,000 and $200,000 at prices ranging from $7 to $100. Main Bout, Inc., which owns the ancillary rights, estimates about $300,000 will go into the pot in which the fighters share. That could mean a $250,000 gross to Clay and $100,000 to Chuvalo.

Scoring will be by the five-point must system with the winner getting five points a round and the loser four or less.

Dodgers Manage Only 2 Runners And No Hits

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Los Angeles, Calif. (AP) -- Los Angeles manager Walter Alton picked the wrong day to begin their screen careers. They were upstaged by a couple of left-handed method actors and a hidden-ball trickster.

While Koufax and Drysdale, Los Angeles' heralded holdout twins, checked into a Hollywood film studio Monday to prepare for their upcoming movie roles, Pittsburgh southpaws Bob Veale and Luke Walker collaborated for a 5-0 no-hit victory over the stage-struck Dodgers at Fort Myers, Fla.

And, at Phoenix, Ariz., the Chicago Cubs almost fooled the San Francisco Giants with a zany variation of the old hidden-ball trick, outfielder George Altman providing the sleight-of-hand.

Veale, the Pirates' bespectacled, 6-foot-6 fireballer, set down the Dodgers for seven innings, and Walker, a 22-year-old rookie, completed the no-hitter against the six batters he faced.

The Dodgers, who have dropped 11 of 16 spring games and have been shut out in three, managed only two base-runners. Tommy Davis was safe on an error in the fifth inning and Veale walked Jeff Torborg in the sixth. Willie Stargell made a lunging catch of Maury Wills' liner in the first inning, but the Dodgers hit only three other batters out of the infield.

Gene Alie led the Pittsburgh attack with four hits, and Roberto Clemente had three. Veale, 17-12 last season--and No. 3 strikeout artist in the majors with 276--pitched a one-hitter against Philadelphia Sept. 19. Walker was 12-7, with 197 strikeouts, for Asheville of the Southern League.

The Cubs played now-you-see-it now-you-don't with the Giants in the seventh inning of a game won by San Francisco 6-8. Rookie Byron Browne crashed against the center-field fence chasing Jim Hart's long drive, then turned and threw to the infield before collapsing. Shortstop Don Kessinger took the throw and relayed to third baseman Ron Santo, cutting down the sliding Hart.

Giants' Manager Herman Franks, however, saw Altman's aid, slip something into his back pocket. "He threw the wrong ball," Willie Mays shouted as Franks charged toward center field and the fans gaped.

While Franks and the umpires conducted a search, Altman spotted handing something to second baseman Glenn Beckert, who passed it to Cubs trainer Joe Proski--and was caught in the act.

The ball Proski surrendered was spotless; the ball thrown by Browne was grass-stained green from heavy use. Browne had picked up a ball left on the field after batting practice.

Hart was awarded a ground-rule double, leaving Franks one-up on his old boss, Leo Durocher, the Cubs' pilot.

The New York Yankees snapped the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak 4-1 as Roger Maris hit his first spring homer and Cleto Boyer clubbed his fourth. St. Louis blanked the New York Mets 3-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Ray Washburn and Tracy Stallard.

Cincinnati topped Atlanta 5-3 on Tommy Helms' two-run single in the eighth. Jim Maloney yielded one run in three innings--his first appearance for the Reds. Philadelphia trimmed Baltimore 5-3 on the tight pitching of Ray Culp and Darold Knowles.

California blasted Cleveland 11-1. Ed Kirkpatrick pacing a 14-hit assault with a single, double and homer. Bob Chance drove in two runs with a single and sacrifice fly as Washington edged Minnesota 3-2, and Eddie Kasko's inside-the-park grand slam homer led Houston past its Oklahoma City farm club 6-1.

with 19 points. Bailey led the Dexter scoring attack with 26 points. Essex held a 41-35 half time edge.

Charles Pardon led his Vanduser team to a 97-79 win over rival East Prairie with 35 points and was followed by Below and Wages with 21 and 18 points respectively.

Hart led East Prairie scorers with 21 points. Vanduser led at half time 51-32. Tonight's action will pit Dexter (Darby's) against New Madrid, Morley taking on Sikeston Canvas, and Bloomfield and Malden going at it in the night cap.

Bulldogs Fall Player Plays To Mules In First Game

POPLAR BLUFF -- Sikeston fell behind by 12 strokes here yesterday in the first Golf game of the young season and fell to host Poplar Bluff 185-173.

Matthews, Atchinson and Whiteaker tallied 46 for the Bulldogs and Stamp totaled 47.

The Bulldogs will take on the Kennett team, Thursday the seventh of April, at Kennett.

GRAMBLING, La. AP -- Little All - America basketball player Johnny Comeaux of Grambling College played most of the past season with a broken right arm, it was learned Monday.

Comeaux broke the tibia bone in his right arm in late December but the exact nature of the injury was not discovered until it healed despite numerous X-rays.

The crack was discovered Monday when Comeaux entered a hospital at nearby Ruston for removal of a calcium deposit on his leg.

Comeaux missed only three games during the campaign and posted a 31-point-per-game scoring average.

As a special feature, George Sisler, a standout with the St. Louis Browns for 12 years, will be honored along with 11 former Cardinal greats at the Red Birds' first 11 games of the season, the Cardinals announced today.

A committee of sportswriters and announcers, headed by C. C. Johnson Spink, publisher and editor of The Sporting News, selected the Cardinal stars, one of whom will be present to relive some memorable moments in his career at each game the Cardinals play in the historic ballpark that has been their home since 1920.

The date when each player will be honored will be announced later.

The Cardinals open the season on April 12, against Philadelphia, and will play Pittsburgh, New York and San Francisco before they move downtown to the new Busch Memorial Stadium.

pleted a career batting average of .340, and twice hit over .400, 407 in 1920 and .420 in 1922.

His sizzling bat enabled the Browns to make a strong bid for the American League pennant in 1922, and his efforts were rewarded at the end of the season when he was named the league's most valuable player.

Sisler, who hit under .300 in only one of his 12 years with the Browns, and excelled as a first baseman, was named to the Hall of Fame in 1939. He is the father of Dick, a coach on Red Schoendienst's Cardinal team.

Cardinal stars who will be on hand for the final playing dates at Busch Stadium are Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter, Frank Frisch, Dizzy Dean, Chick Hafee, Jesse Haines, Marty Marion, Ducky Medwick, Terry Moore, John Mize and Schoendienst.

Everyone who attends the games will receive a gold colored coin featuring a sketch and career highlights of the player being honored, and everyone who attends the opener against the Phillies will receive a Cardinal commemorative coin holder.

Race Driver Can't Recall Fatal Crash</

Baseball Season Opens For Big Eight Teams This Week

Big Eight Baseball
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Colorado, Kansas State and Nebraska open their baseball seasons today, and by the end of the week all of the Big Eight teams will be in action.

K-State and Nebraska will be making delayed openings, as rain postponed their first games originally scheduled for Monday.

Kansas starts Thursday, while defending Big Eight champion Missouri and Iowa State begin play Friday.

Oklahoma State already has five games under its belt, winning three and losing two in a five-game series at Houston.

Oklahoma has played two games at Texas and defeated Texas Western Monday.

Only Colorado and Iowa State open at home, the Buffs host Regis of Denver and Iowa State plays Minnesota at Ames. All of the other conference schools are in Texas.

K-State will be at Baylor in Waco, Tex., today and Nebraska, the Big Eight runnerup last year, is at Houston.

Kansas plays a doubleheader with Texas Lutheran and Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., Thursday, while Missouri opens against Trinity at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Oklahoma State won't see action again until April 8th, when they host Colorado in a doubleheader that opens conference action.

Missouri and Nebraska are expected to battle for league laurels again this season, with strong competition coming from the two Oklahoma schools.

The Tigers lost their captain-elect, Dan Rudanovich, who signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox in January.

Rudanovich, an outfielder, was the third leading hitter in the nation last season, batting .471. Missouri will play seven games in six days in their Texas swing, returning home April 8th to take on Iowa State.

Kansas State will open its conference schedule the same day in a doubleheader at Oklahoma, while Kansas is at Nebraska.

Oklahoma scored three runs in the tenth inning Monday to take a 5-3 non-conference victory over Texas Western at El Paso, Tex.

Joe Cox of Oklahoma went the distance and scattered nine Texas Western hits. The Miners took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the fourth and the Sooners tied it with a single runs in the seventh and ninth.

Two Arrested For Murder

KANSAS CITY, Kan. AP -- Two men were questioned Monday about the murder of a 27-year-old divorcee, but they were not identified positively by witnesses.

One of the men, Bruce Junior Quinn, 26, was booked on another charge -- the rape of a 45-year-old woman at her home in Kansas City, Mo., Sunday.

The murder victim, Mrs. Geraldine Grauer, lived in Kansas City, Mo., where she disappeared Saturday morning while walking four blocks to her job at a dry-cleaning firm.

Her body was found behind a vacant house in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday evening by three youths.

The youths told police they saw a Negro man carrying Mrs. Grauer near the vacant house Saturday night.

The woman's underwear, stockings and shoes had been removed. Her hands were tied behind her with a stocking and another stocking was tied tightly around her neck.

Vocational Training Debated

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. AP -- A high Federal education official said today one of the major issues facing vocational educators, especially those in large, urban areas, is exactly how, when and where students should get their occupational training in the education process.

Dr. Walter M. Arnold, assistant U.S. Commissioner for Vocational and Technical Education, said it is now possible to identify a developing issue among administrators as to whether any vocational education should be in high school at all.

Arnold, however, in a speech at a regional meeting of state and local vocational education administrators, said there is a preponderance of evidence of a critical need for vocational education in high school, both now and in the foreseeable future.

Under discussion at the three-day regional meeting are issues that have developed since the Vocational Education Act of 1963 went into effect about a year and a half ago. States included in the meeting of Region VI vocational educational personnel are Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

Expensive Educational Torture

The Prince and Timbertop

By BARNEY SLATER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

MELBOURNE, Australia—(NEA)—Halfway up a mountain slope in an impossibly rugged area of the State of Victoria, the son of a millionaire merchant chops through a pile of wood.

A few hundred yards away, the son of a Bangkok factory owner hammers away at a house under construction.

A little farther down the slope, a youngster who will one day run his father's vineyards cleans out a pigsty.

And the future king of England gathers wood from the bush. You may call it beating about the bush, if you like.

If it were not for the fact that these young men also study on the side, Timbertop School might well be regarded as a royal penal colony.

Charles Philip Arthur George, Prince of Wales, Duke of Cornwall, Duke of Rothesay, Earl of Carrick, Earl of Chester, Baron of Renfrew, Lord of the Isles and Prince and Great Steward of Scotland, is now just one of the boys undergoing expensive educational torture at Australia's most exclusive school.

Soon after his arrival, the 17-year-old prince was initiated into the Timbertop regimen. His first unofficial class was a demonstration of fire-fighting equipment.

February is midsummer in Down Under country and the fire danger in bush areas is acute. So Charles has learned how to operate the fire hose.

Since the temperatures drop below freezing in the winter, and central heating is unknown at Timbertop, Charles learned the intricacies of sawing wood.

School officials point out that their prince will not be favored. Says Michael F. Hanley, a former Rhodes Scholar and rugby player who is Timbertop's headmaster:

"The school is run by a kind of rugged democracy—but the boys are firmly guided along the right lines by the masters.

"Each two weeks the boys elect leaders who are responsible for seeing that every allocated chore is carried out.

of the city, asking them to return for the vote.

The supplement funds are included in a $2.5-billion catch-all appropriations measure. The bulk of the appropriation would go into federal pay raises voted last year.

Also up for a vote was $10 million to start the National Teachers Corps program. The Democratic leaders were less worried about the vote on this program.

The rent supplement and Teachers Corps program were authorized—but not financed—by Congress last year.

STROLLING THROUGH THE BUSH: Prince Charles and roommate Stewart McGregor walk in the bush country near Timbertop School.

The very fact that a boy must give orders to boys of his own age—and insure that the orders are carried out—gives a boy a large feeling of responsibility.

Timbertoppers don't normally practice the typical schoolboy pranks so dear to generations of Tom Browns. They simply haven't got the time, what with floor-scrubbing, animal-feeding, wood-splitting, cooking, hiking, camping and other rugged pursuits.

On the other hand, officials point out, when Prince Charles and his classmates end their year at Timbertop, they are "physically tough, mentally alert and more aware of their responsibilities in life."

They will probably be very tired, too.

1,000 Southwestern Bell employees are attending training courses today

Why?

Because you have to know your business before you can provide the world's best telephone service. Today—and every workday—1,000 or more employees are in company training classes. Last year, 43,000 telephone people spent 2,900,000 on-job hours learning how to serve you better.

And the training doesn't stop after the workday ends. Last year, 2,941 telephone people took advantage of the company's Tuition Plan to attend courses at 110 different colleges and universities. Paid for by Southwestern Bell, these courses cover just about anything that will help the employee do a better job.

Telephone people have established a solid reputation for being courteous and helpful. One thing that helps them help you is the intensive training they receive. Our goal is to make your telephone service—already the world's best—even better.

Man Of Many Faces Takes Key Position In Cabinet

By DON HUTH
JAKARTA, Indonesia AP -- A quiet general, a respected sultan and a shrewd politician emerged today as the key men in Indonesia's new Cabinet.

President Sukarno, standing under an ornate crystal chandelier at his palace, Sunday night announced formation of the new government after a week of tough bargaining.

The key men are Lt. Gen. Suharto, who took over the government March 11 after violent student demonstrations against pro-Communists in the previous government; the Sultan of Jogjakarta, Hamengku Buwono IX, and Adam Malik, who headed Murba, an anti-Communist Socialist organization which was banned in 1965.

Lt. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, the former defense minister whose ouster by Sukarno last month set off the student demonstrations, was given the rank of minister and named deputy commander of Kogan,

Half-Shipyard Completed

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Personnel of the Preyer-Green Construction Company of Malden have said that the land fill at the site of the new Caruthersville Shipyard is about half completed now and barring any complications, such as bad weather, should be finished within the next two weeks.

A visitor to the site Monday might have thought that the original situation that delayed work at the riverfront site, wet ground, is just the reverse--with it being too dry now. In spite of the heavy clouds of dust that hampered workers Monday, a spokesman for the firm stated that there are still spots that are too soft for efficient operation of the earth moving equipment.

In fact, this became apparent as several tractors became stuck in what is best described as "spongy ground" and had to be pulled out. The areas described as spongy are generally in borrow pits which were under water in late February and early March when the Mississippi was near flood stage.

Since work really got started earlier this month, J.D. Dowd said, the weather has been pretty good and, except for the wind which stirred the dust, the command in charge of the "crush Malaysia" campaign. What part he will play in the Cabinet was not clear.

There was no appreciable reduction in the size of the government. The previous lineup of 100 ministers, handpicked by Sukarno, was replaced by an inner Cabinet of six deputy premiers, 34 ministers and 39 deputy ministers -- a total of 79. Sukarno remains the head of the Cabinet.

"What was intended to be a tiger has given birth to an elephant," the Indonesian Herald commented.

Students from Jakarta and Bandung were reported planning to demonstrate Tuesday against the new government. The students are dissatisfied because of the number of familiar political faces still in the government and the size of the Cabinet. They also want speedy action to resolve the nation's acute economic crisis.

Suharto in a broadcast appealed to the people to give the Cabinet an opportunity to function.

Monday was almost ideal. March, he pointed out, is usually a tough month as far as the weather goes but if it holds out he feels the job can be completed on the schedule that was set up.

Work had been slated to start in late January but snow, rain and high water delayed any real efforts until March 7. It was then estimated the land fill would take about 25 working days to complete.

If finished in the next two weeks that will mean it is required between 20 and 25 working days, a pretty close estimate.

Some of the fill is more than 12 feet deep and the entire job will take in the neighborhood of 180,000 yards of loose dirt--about 139,000 compact yards--to complete.

Another spokesman for Preyer-Green added that a job like the shipyard is difficult to figure. "You take 12 guesses and carry them out to the third decimal," he said in a joking way. It really isn't easy to figure.

There are more than 15 pieces of land moving equipment on the scene and they are working on a nine to ten hour day. In addition to tractor drawn land graders, the firm brought down their large JD-760 earth mover plus a bulldozer.

The work area constitutes a much larger tract than the actual shipyard site. The equipment is rolling along about 3.4 mile stretch of the Mississippi River bank, picking up dirt and hauling it to the actual site. Such a project is not as easily

Woman Found Strangled

KANSAS CITY, Kan. AP -- The body of a 27-year-old divorcee, a nylon stocking tied tightly around her neck, was found in the trash-filled back yard of a vacant house in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday evening.

Mrs. Geraldine Grauer, a burn-haired mother of a 6-year-old girl, had been reported missing after she disappeared while walking four blocks from her apartment in Kansas City, Mo., to her job as a clerk at a dry-cleaning firm Saturday morning.

Her shoes, stockings and underwear had been removed. One stocking bound her hands behind her. The other was around her neck. She was wearing the cleaning firm's blue uniform dress and white blouse.

Three youths found the body under an overturned rowboat. The youths told police they had seen Mrs. Grauer about 8:30 p.m. Saturday limping or stumbling with a Negro man about two blocks from the scene. Later, they said, they saw a man carrying her near the vacant house.

Mrs. Grauer was divorced in 1963 from Alan Grauer, an inmate of the Chino prison in California. She shared an apartment with her mother, Mrs. Emma Lemmons.

Friends described Mrs. Grauer as a quiet conscientious woman devoted to her daughter, Patty.

She was noted for punctuality and when she didn't arrive at her job at 6 a.m. Saturday her supervisor became worried and telephoned the apartment at 6:15 a.m.

Mrs. Lemmons notified police at 6:30 a.m. that her daughter was missing.

"I know my daughter very well," Mrs. Lemmons told police. "She's not the kind of girl who would go running off with a man. She's not the giddy type."

completed as it might seem since it must have a certain slope and this differs at various points.

Strong, gusty winds turned the location into what looked like a desert, whipping thick clouds of dust across the old levee and down the barren site. It made normally dirty work a lot dirtier and more difficult for the machine operators.

Supervisory personnel did not hesitate to comment about the dust but they were also clear about the fact that it was preferred over bad weather, such as rain, that might halt the work. This, one pointed out, would change the whole economic outlook of the project for the Malden construction firm.

Gemini Astros. Calm About Ride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The two Gemini 8 astronauts, as if talking about a quiet drive in the country, told a news conference over the weekend of their wild ride aboard their tumbling spacecraft.

Nell A. Armstrong and Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott said Saturday the sensation of riding in the gyrating craft was similar to that experienced in a spinning airplane.

Armstrong, civilian command pilot, said the tumble when the Gemini and an Agena rocket were docked "began to increase to a point where we felt the structural integrity of the combination. . . was in jeopardy."

The weekend also produced a series of demonstrations against the Viet Nam war.

Thousands marched down New York City's Fifth Avenue in the showpiece protest Saturday. Others demonstrated in cities scattered across the nation, including Washington, San Francisco, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, and Philadelphia.

In Moscow, top Kremlin leaders turned out to welcome a North Vietnamese delegation which came to attend the Soviet Communist party congress opening Tuesday. The Kremlin action underscored the importance the Kremlin attaches to North Viet Nam, which Red China has been trying to win over to its side.

Indonesian President Sukarno announced a new reform Cabinet which he said will get its orders from him as Indonesia's "great leader." But the Cabinet includes Lt. Gen. Suharto and Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, two anti-Communists who figured in the ouster of Sukarno's pro-Chinese Communist regime.

At home, a sports car smashed into a crowd at the Sebring, Fla., 12-hour auto race Saturday, killing four spectators. Three of the victims were a father and his two sons. Earlier, Canadian driving champion Bob McLean was killed in a fiery crash in the race.

The nation's 712 Social Security offices will stay open at night this week so persons who are 65 and older by Jan. 1 can sign up for medicare. The offices will be open until 9 p.m. today, Tuesday and Wednesday and until midnight Thursday--the deadline.

Also over the weekend, the ousted ruler of Bestar State in central India, Pravin Chandra Bhanjdeo, and seven followers were found dead in his palace.

A League of Women Voters study group, wrestling with the world's problems, was discussing whether to send wheat to Russia and whether such wheat would raise the standard of living and make the Reds less disposed to war. Finally, one quiet member settled it. "If you feed them enough, they'll be less likely to fight," she said, then explained her reasoning. "I know. I've been on Metreol for two weeks, and I'm ready to fight anybody!"

Another spokesman for Preyer-Green added that a job like the shipyard is difficult to figure. "You take 12 guesses and carry them out to the third decimal," he said in a joking way. It really isn't easy to figure.

There are more than 15 pieces of land moving equipment on the scene and they are working on a nine to ten hour day. In addition to tractor drawn land graders, the firm brought down their large JD-760 earth mover plus a bulldozer.

The work area constitutes a much larger tract than the actual shipyard site. The equipment is rolling along about 3/4 mile stretch of the Mississippi River bank, picking up dirt and hauling it to the actual site. Such a project is not as easily

The six deputy premiers are Dr. Johannes Leimena, a member of Indonesian governments almost continuously since the early days of the rebel republic of Indonesia; Suharto, the Sultan of Jogjakarta, Malik, Dr. Ruslan Abdulgani and Dr. Idham Chalid. Each was assigned responsibility for a group of ministries or government activities.

Suharto took over six ministries, giving him control of the armed forces, defense and security.

Sukarno said the Cabinet would function under directives from him. "Every minister in the Cabinet is my assistant, carrying out matters which I direct to them," the president said. "But his usual smile was missing and his voice was tired,

Strong, gusty winds turned the location into what looked like a desert, whipping thick clouds of dust across the old levee and down the barren site. It made normally dirty work a lot dirtier and more difficult for the machine operators.

Supervisory personnel did not hesitate to comment about the dust but they were also clear about the fact that it was preferred over bad weather, such as rain, that might halt the work. This, one pointed out, would change the whole economic outlook of the project for the Malden construction firm.

At a suburban Milwaukee shopping center the head of a small boy poked through the open sun roof of a small foreign car.

Standing on the car seat, he was scanning the crowd of shoppers with a pair of binoculars. Suddenly the boy's face brightened. "There she is, Dad!" he cried. "There's Mom!"

Woman Found Strangled

KANSAS CITY, Kan. AP -- The body of a 27-year-old divorcee, a nylon stocking tied tightly around her neck, was found in the trash-filled back yard of a vacant house in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday evening.

Mrs. Geraldine Grauer, a burn-haired mother of a 6-year-old girl, had been reported missing after she disappeared while walking four blocks from her apartment in Kansas City, Mo., to her job as a clerk at a dry-cleaning firm Saturday morning.

Her shoes, stockings and underwear had been removed. One stocking bound her hands behind her. The other was around her neck. She was wearing the cleaning firm's blue uniform dress and white blouse.

Three youths found the body under an overturned rowboat. The youths told police they had seen Mrs. Grauer about 8:30 p.m. Saturday limping or stumbling with a Negro man about two blocks from the scene. Later, they said, they saw a man carrying her near the vacant house.

Mrs. Grauer was divorced in 1963 from Alan Grauer, an inmate of the China prison in California. She shared an apartment with her mother, Mrs. Emma Lemmons.

Friends described Mrs. Grauer as a quiet, conscientious woman devoted to her daughter, Patty.

She was noted for punctuality and when she didn't arrive at her job at 6 a.m. Saturday her supervisor became worried and telephoned the apartment at 6:15 a.m.

Mrs. Lemmons notified police at 6:30 a.m. that her daughter was missing.

"I know my daughter very well," Mrs. Lemmons told police. "She's not the kind of girl who would go running off with a man. She's not the giddy type."

Gemini Astros. Calm About Ride

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The two Gemini 8 astronauts, as if talking about a quiet drive in the country, told a news conference over the weekend of their wild ride aboard their tumbling spacecraft.

Neil A. Armstrong and Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott said Saturday the sensation of riding in the gyrating craft was similar to that experienced in a spinning airplane.

Armstrong, civilian command pilot, said the tumble when the Gemini and an Agena rocket were docked "began to increase to a point where we felt the structural integrity of the combination... was in jeopardy."

The weekend also produced a series of demonstrations against the Viet Nam war. Thousands marched down New York City's Fifth Avenue in the showpiece protest Saturday. Others demonstrated in cities scattered across the nation, including Washington, San Francisco, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, and Philadelphia.

In Moscow, top Kremlin leaders turned out to welcome a North Vietnamese delegation which came to attend the Soviet Communist party congress opening Tuesday. The Kremlin action underscored the importance the Kremlin attaches to North Viet Nam, which Red China has been trying to win over to its side.

Indonesian President Sukarno announced a new reform Cabinet which he said will get its orders from him as Indonesia's "great leader." But the Cabinet includes Lt. Gen. Suharto and Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, two anti-Communists who figured in the ouster of Sukarno's pro-Chinese Communist regime.

At home, a sports car smashed into a crowd at the Sebring, Fla., 12-hour auto race Saturday, killing four spectators. Three of the victims were a father and his two sons. Earlier, Canadian driving champion Bob McLean was killed in a fiery crash in the race.

The nation's 712 Social Security offices will stay open at night this week so persons who are 65 and older by Jan. 1 can sign up for medicare. The offices will be open until 9 p.m. today, Tuesday and Wednesday and until midnight Thursday--the deadline.

Also over the weekend, the ousted ruler of Bestar State in central India, Pravin Chandra Bhanjdeo, and seven followers were found dead in his palace.

A League of Women Voters study group, wrestling with the world's problems, was discussing whether to send wheat to Russia and whether such wheat would raise the standard of living and make the Reds less disposed to war. Finally, one quiet member settled it. "If you feed them enough, they'll be less likely to fight," she said, then explained her reasoning: "I know. I've been on Metreel for two weeks, and I'm ready to fight anybody!"

When I Was A Boy

B.F. "Pappy" Blanton

As compiled by Ralph Gregory, Curator of the Mark Twain Shrine, Florida, from the writings of the founder of the Appeal, B. F. "Pappy" Blanton, in 1919-20. A contemporary of Mark Twain, "Pappy" Blanton wrote of the times and customs that were so dear to Twain, and about which Twain wrote so many interesting and humorous anecdotes.

(Verbatim copy, with some questions and guesses as to missing words)

Jan. 23, 1920

When I was a boy there was no such fire arms in existence as there is today. Every gun in my neighborhood was a rifle, many of them so heavy that a ten year old boy could hardly carry one across the yard, while some of them were smaller and were known as squirrel rifles. I had never seen a shot gun until I was fourteen years old. All guns and pistols then were flint lock guns, and percussion caps had never been heard of, and these old flint lock guns were the kind our forefathers won their independence with in the great Revolutionary war and the kind that whipped the British in 1812. Caps for guns were not in use until long since I first saw a gun, but now the old percussion cap has been related to the rear and we have guns that you can shoot as fast as you can pull a trigger.

When I was a boy I was no better or no worse than the average boy, and the boys of long ago were very much as are boys of today. Of course boys in my day did lots of devilment with no intention of doing wrong, because boys do not stop to consider the right or the wrong of a thing until after it is done. Knowing this I have always been ready and willing to make allowance for the wrongs that children do as I remember how it was with them when I was a boy. Children, boys or girls, really do much wrong unknowingly, and if you love children as I do and as everybody should it is quite an easy matter to overlook their mischievous deeds. Our great fault with many grown men is that they forget that they were ever boys, and perhaps worse than the average boy of today.

When I was a boy many things were very like they are at present. We have been asked by several persons to tell of the superstitions of the long ago when I was a boy. Yes, there was more or less of it then, such as killing a snake and turning it on its back to make it rain, and the black people believed strongly in ghosts, and some of them could tell you just when they had seen one and what it looked like, and many people believed in Faith Doctors, and planting in the moon, etc., but about the same proportion of the people of today believe the same things. Now we have Christian Science, which is not unlike the old time faith doctors, man now believe in Spiritualism and believe the spirits of the dead can be called back and the great dailies, like the Globe-Democrat, believe in the "Weegie" Board, and frequently publish a lot of rot supposed to come from the spirit world through a woman who died a few hundred years ago. There is more superstition than there was when I was a boy.

When I was a boy there were many thousands of black slaves in this state and people generally believed that it was a Divine institution, and I have often heard men quote Scripture to justify slavery, and we all believed it the proper thing, but do not now. The slaves in my part of the world were well treated, as a general rule, and I never knew of but one brutal slave owner, and he was about as mean as the devil wanted him to be, I guess. And yet he posed as a very pious man. The darkies in most homes were warmly clothed and well fed on good substantial food, and when sick the family doctor was called in and they were well cared for, and I believe now that the Negroes away back there were the happiest people I ever saw. They took no thought of tomorrow, but sung and danced, patted Juba as long as they pleased at night and then slept like a log. I know a few old Negroes now who would be better off if they were back in their old cabins with no thought for the coming days.

COMMISSION ENDS REDISTRICTING TASK

With the resolution of differences over a north St. Louis district, the House Reapportionment Committee voted 18-2 last week to approve a tentative House redistricting plan which faces three days of hearings this week and a final approval by the commission.

Although commission chairman, Andy Runge, and vice chairman Robert Dorsey pointed out, "We have not allowed ourselves to make subjective judgements," the last obstacle to agreement on a plan was eliminated when commission Democrats agreed to give Republicans a favorable district in the Ferguson-Spanish Lake area of St. Louis.

Subjective judgements are unavoidable even when population is the guideline, one University of Missouri political scientist pointed out. In a given area, to be divided into two districts, subjective determination must enter in when the districts can be drawn in two different ways, both equal in population, but varying widely in the weight of Democrats versus Republicans.

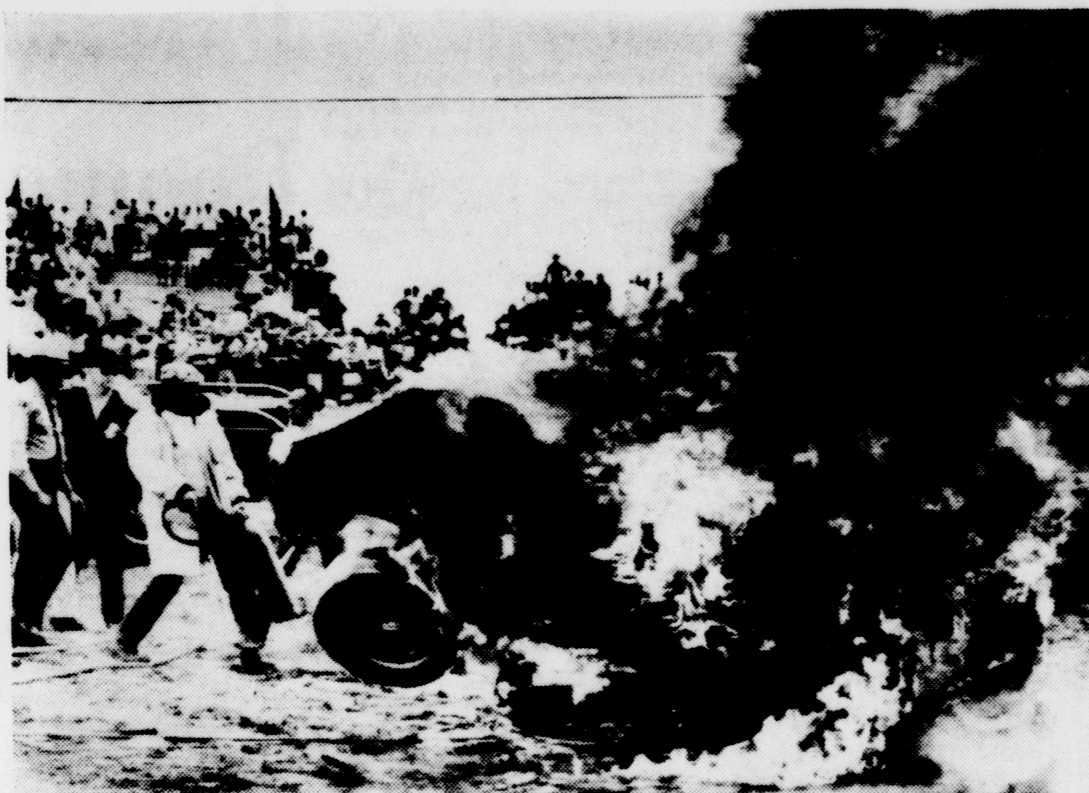

The Ferguson-Spanish Lake area was one of three St. Louis districts in which Republicans were given a marginal chance of winning. St. Louis received 28 districts and St. Louis County was allocated 26. Jackson County, including Kansas City, received 23 districts.

Attempting to comply with reapportionment plans already approved by the courts, the commission kept its population variances within 10 per cent above and 10 per cent below the magic district size of 26,502, Runge said.

Dorsey said the heaviest variance throughout the state would be under 20 per cent from the largest to the smallest district, with most ranging around 10 per cent variances.

Although the commission tried to stay within existing political subdivision lines throughout the state, Dorsey said this was almost impossible in most cases.

He said about seven counties were split and combined with other districts where the "populations were considerably under the 'magic number'—most of these counties included no large towns and forced the crossing of county lines. These included Shuler, Pike, Polk, Vernon, Berry, Ozark and Dent

After hearings this week, the commission must give final approval to the plan and submit it to the Secretary of State. Had the committee not met its deadline last week, the task would have been handed over to the Supreme Court commissioners, who will still step in if final approval is not given this week, but the latter possibility is unlikely.

With the establishment of districts, a large number of candidates are expected to file soon for state representative with the Secretary of State. The filing deadline is in late April for the August primaries.

AUDITOR COMPLETES UNIVERSITY RECORDS—State Auditor Haskell Holman has just completed a five-year audit of the University of Missouri and has asked the University's Board of Curators to review it at their next meeting.

Three years behind schedule, audits for the University are supposed to be completed every two years, Holman said. However, he pointed out that his office has been trying to shorten the periods between audits for other state agencies and county governments and that he hopes to bring the University audit back on a two-year schedule.

In the past, audits for third and fourth-class counties were made every six years and Holman has reduced this schedule to every four years. Auditors from the state office work continually on county records, making a complete cycle of the 107 third and fourth-class counties every four years.

In addition, Missouri statutes require institutional audits to be made every two years, except for the State Treasurer's Office, which is audited each year, Holman said.

A few days later, a sailor came in requesting a particular brand of contraceptive. I brightly said, "Gee, I never heard of it, but if you'll tell me what it is used for I'm sure I'll be able to find it for you."

The sailor did a double take before he realized that I was serious, then replied, "Well, young lady, if you don't know by now, I sure don't want to be the first to tell you."

State Auditor Haskell Holman has just completed a five-year audit of the University of Missouri and has asked the University's Board of Curators to review it at their next meeting.

Three years behind schedule, audits for the University are supposed to be completed every two years, Holman said. However, he pointed out that his office has been trying to shorten the periods between audits for other state agencies and county governments and that he hopes to bring the University audit back on a two-year schedule.

In the past, audits for third and fourth-class counties were made every six years and Holman has reduced this schedule to every four years. Auditors from the state office work continually on county records, making a complete cycle of the 107 third and fourth-class counties every four years.

In addition, Missouri statutes require institutional audits to be made every two years, except for the State Treasurer's Office, which is audited each year, Holman said.

Lightest Mexico

Mexico City -- The poor Beatle-type musicians here are getting a rugged harassing from all corners.

Shaggy imitations of the British group (they got made knights!) have been threatened and in some cases attacked by gentlemen and school lads wielding scissors.

Here in the big city, Mayor Ernesto Uruchurtu shut down some of the Beatlenik coffee houses because they were centers of perdition and bad examples of everything to children of both sexes.

I have seen a few of these long-haired entertainers. How can you tell to which sex they belong, Mayor?

It must be a sad experience for the epileptic lads. They see the British Beatles honored by the Queen and unmolested by the nation.

And here, the city fathers stamp CLOSED on their little swinging doors and the country goes up in arms.

Officials of the big Tele-Viscentre (Television Center) here posted a warning saying no mop tops would be permitted to perform over the local airways.

And now they are driving the shags underground. In defiance to the mayor's order, some of the coffee go-gos operate like speakeasies. A guard on the door just like the days of Chicago.

You want a cuppa coffee with some wild-haired music, you have to side up to the portals and whisper, "Jose sent me."

The excuse for all this harassing is that officials demand the Mexican entertainer look and act like men. In this day and age it is a silly notion. But they are following it through.

Monterrey has started an anti-Beatle drive. City treasurer Reinaldo Garcia warned the authorities would shutter all the go-go coffee houses and then start on the radio and television programs. "Who authorized these programs, anyhow?" he asked.

Not me, sir. I'm just a by-standing reporter and keep my hair cut (what there is left of it) to Marine Corps regulations.

One group known as Los Yaki had a rough go. The sinner (a boy, I think) looks like an unclipped French poodle.

rey school kids wielding scissors broke into a television station to cut up the singer and his companions. Their hair, that is.

Fortunately, a disaster was averted. The irate young gentlemen said they had come to "cut their hair down to masculine size."

I am wondering how the conversation would go on a date between one of the Beatle-tops and a young lady.

Probably the boy would say, "Dear, your hair always looks so gorgeously sloppy and out of place. What do you use on it?"

And the girl would answer, "Oh, I just put on a little Straw Stack hair cream (without lanolin) and shake my head vigorously a few times in front of an electric fan. It's really so simple."

Of course, this is for people who care. For those who don't, you can just comb your hair back and pin it neatly. And grow a mustache so they can tell the girls from the boys.

When I began my first job in a drug-store during World War II, my manager told me that the merchandise was grouped in broad categories--cosmetics in one section, vitamins in another, patent medicines in another, etc. He said that, until I became familiar with the stock, I should ask each customer what the product was used for, so that I would be able to find any item easily by looking in the appropriate section.

A few days later, a sailor came in requesting a particular brand of contraceptive. I brightly said, "Gee, I never heard of it, but if you'll tell me what it is used for I'm sure I'll be able to find it for you."

The sailor did a double take before he realized that I was serious, then replied, "Well, young lady, if you don't know by now, I sure don't want to be the first to tell you."

Light Machine Gun Tested By Marines

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON AP -- The Marine Corps is testing in Viet Nam a machine gun so light it can be fired from any position and can be fitted with a bayonet for hand-to-hand fighting.

This weapon, generally fired from a tripod -- a two-legged mount, is about half as heavy as most machine guns in its class. Its ammunition is so much lighter that its crew can carry about three times as many rounds.

The machine gun is a member of the Stoner 63 small-weapons family. This is a novel system in which six different guns can be fashioned from one basic component by interchanging parts.

Eight of the belt-fed Stoner light machine guns are being evaluated by the Marines in the Viet Nam war, Marine sources said today. The testing began last month and will continue for an indefinite period.

None of the other five forms of the Stoner system are being tried out at this time. The five are an assault rifle, a carbine, a light machine gun using a 30-pound magazine, a medium machine gun on a rather heavy tripod, and a fixed machine gun designed to be mounted on tanks, trucks, helicopters and other vehicles.

The Stoner system is one of those being studied by the Army which is taking a long look at the entire spectrum of small weapons. Out of that study may come a new standardized infantry-type weapon for U.S. ground forces, both Army and Marine.

Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Marine Corps commandant, is an admirer of the Stoner system. The Stoner machine gun, like its other five cousins in the system, fires the 5.56-millimeter .223-caliber bullet which also is used by the lightweight M16 rifle now being introduced into parts.

Coats Swing Into Spring

by Helen Hennessy
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK—(N E A)—Today's mood is fast and young. And fashion is keeping pace with it. Even coat silhouettes which usually change more slowly than suit and dress shapes are varied and new for spring.

With the current emphasis on widening horizons, said a spokesman for the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry, "one coat shape won't do. Designers now present many silhouettes because there are more places to go."

There is news this spring in the swing of the A-line. Close shoulders and mobility at the hem emphasize the new breezy, young mood.

There is softer shaping in skinny coats. Hard tailoring is out but back belts, subtle seaming, lightly indented waistlines and concealed closings are very much in. And bias fullness makes a surprise appearance at the hem of many skinny coats.

The shorter-than-long coat this season swings out like a trapeze and is especially chic when the fashion beneath is ensemble. Sweater coats are important, too, with a narrowness under the arms and discernible body contours.

Waistlines wander high and low and they are suggested rather than actually there.

Colors team up to make news—a black band on white, gray on mauve, off-white on

The costume look is shown (left) in a coat of large checks over a heather dress of simple lines. The slim coat with small collar and set-in sleeves is trimmed on the pockets with heather fabric and the collar is held in place by a heather bow. It is a Carnival Jr. design. White collar, cuffs and buttons create a spring mood on solid color straight line coat (right) by Lassie Jr. Closing is double-breasted and sleeves are raglan cut.

Favorite fabrics are hard-finished worsteds, gabardines, twills, Shetlands and boucles.

Coats have such a different look this season that last year's number can't be palmed off as new. It may be a costly change in fashion but we have had a free ride for the past few springs. And change is, after all, what makes fashion fun.

Two Million Whites To Vote At Johannesburg

By ROBERT N. LINDSAY
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa AP -- About two million whites will vote Wednesday for the government that is to rule South Africa's 18 million people.

The basic issue is how the government can best insure that the country's 3 million whites continue to dominate the nation's 14 million nonwhites. Most of the competing parties support the principle of white supremacy.

Premier Hendrik Verwoerd's Nationalist party, in power 47 years, is strongly backed to win, probably with an increased majority. Balloting is for members in the all-white House of Assembly. Only adult whites can vote. Men and women are on the same franchise.

Four white members are elected separately by the country's almost two million colored-people of mixed blood. The total seats being contested Wednesday is 166.

Verwoerd's party won 65 per cent of the contested seats five years ago. The main opposition is the United party led by Sir De Villiers Graaff.

Though the country has been drenched by a torrent of political speeches and campaign literature, the campaign produced few fireworks. One United party rally really was broken up by thugs after a policeman had his face cut. Campaign posters have been smeared with swastikas and university students have shouted down United party speakers.

A Nationalist candidate who sent a campaign circular to Jewish voters asking them as Jews to vote for him had his knuckles rapped by the Jewish press and by Johannesburg's Sunday Times.

The difference between the two main parties is largely one of degree, not substance. Verwoerd maintains the basic issue is who can best be trusted to maintain white supremacy. He holds South Africa must show the world "by every single vote we can gather that it is the South African nation that stands behind this government and that anyone who attacks the government attacks the entire white South African nation."

He is asking for "a mighty demonstration of national unity."

His speeches have shown awareness of overseas criticism of his government's apartheid race segregation policies and of the possibility of concerted international action to protest apartheid.

The stronger South Africa is, he argues, the safer it will be from attacks by hostile nations who want "to bring us to our knees through boycotts and sanctions."

Verwoerd holds that recent developments in the continent, such as the military coups in Nigeria and Ghana, have brought disillusionment to those who believed in black democracy. "People should understand that the black nations of Africa are still like children who must be guided," he says.

His party plans guiding South Africa's blacks toward self-government in their own segregated reserves known as bantustans. Eight bantustans are in the party blueprints, but so far only the Transkei on the Indian Ocean is a going concern.

The long-term idea is to confine the Africans to these homelands, 13 per cent of the country's total area, and to bring them along to full independence.

The government would continue to permit millions of Africans outside the bantustans to work in the white areas, but never to live there permanently or to become integrated into the whites' social, political, or economic life.

The United party, which is campaigning for white political control over the whole of South Africa, including the African reserves, aims at the gradual building up of a multiracial country but with severely restricted rights for the Africans.

It opposes the bantustan concept. It warns that in years to come the country could be menaced by eight "dangerous black bantustans torn out of the living body of South Africa, with eight black prime ministers controlling eight black armies within our borders."

It predicts these territories could become little Cubas and used as Communist jumping off places for attacks on white South Africa.

The fledgling extreme right-wing Republicans are led by Christian Van der Merwe, a former professor of medicine at Pretoria University. Stern anti-African measures advocated by the Republicans appeal to some nationalists and the government party fears they may split the vote in marginal constituencies and reduce the government majority.

The Progressive party's only member of Parliament, Helen Suzman, has a straight fight against the United party in her wealthy Johannesburg suburban constituency of Houghton.

Partywide Conference Doomed After Shelving

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON AP -- Republican leaders have shelved -- and probably doomed -- a proposal that a partywide conference be convened to work out in advance the shape of the 1968 GOP platform.

The Republican Coordinating Committee Monday agreed to put off formal consideration of the plan until after the congressional elections next November. One party source said flatly the project is dead.

Michigan Gov. George Romney told newsmen he concurred with the postponement. He said the conference idea -- with its presidential campaign overtones -- should not be seriously considered until after the coming elections.

"I have developed very significant reservations personally as to the wisdom of trying to do this under the circumstances," Romney said. "My support for it has declined."

Romney and Wisconsin Rep. Melvin R. Laird had joined in earlier support of the conference plan. Laird headed the platform committee at the last Republican National Convention.

The idea was to shape well in advance a platform acceptable to all potential Republican presidential nominees, thus avoiding the possibility of a national convention fight on platform issues.

Laird said unless all the contenders for the 1968 presidential nomination agreed to accept the platform produced by an advance conference "the whole thing would be an exercise in futility."

"If you can't get the agreement, you might as well not do it," he said.

Romney now ranks as one of the likely contenders. He said it would be premature to discuss the agreement ground rules Laird deems essential. Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss would not talk about the conference plan but he is known to be cool toward the idea.

Synthesixed Thing Reproduces Itself

By JOHN BARBOUR
PHOENIX, Ariz. AP -- A living thing has been synthesized in a test tube -- and it reproduces itself in as little as two minutes, a scientist said today.

In fact, if you could provide enough raw materials for it, it would produce in 24 hours so many pounds of itself that the only way to understand the number of pounds would be to multiply one quadrillion by itself seven times.

Since it would cost about $9,600 to pay for a pound of raw materials, the economies are a little frightening too.

But Dr. Sol Spiegelman of the University of Illinois -- who synthesized the living material for the first time last summer -- makes only a 30th of an ounce at a time to work with.

The material is a copy of the genetic heart of a virus. It is ribonucleic acid or RNA -- the part of the virus that has the ability to recreate itself. RNA is found in most types of cells.

To set the stage for the synthesis, Dr. Spiegelman prepares a broth of nucleic acids that make up the virus, plus some magnesium salt. Then he adds a copy of the virus RNA to act as a sort of template -- and an enzyme, or chemical helper left over from a naturally occurring virus.

The enzyme, which remembers its job from the virus that created it, and the virus copy take over from there. In two minutes it recreates itself the first time, and gets faster and faster after that -- as it re-fines the reproduction process. The resulting virus RNA not only duplicates itself, but produces some changed altered forms of itself as well--showing that it has the ability to evolve as other living things do.

The material offers a system to study how viruses reproduce and how they infect living cells. The artificial virus RNA can infect cells just as the naturally occurring virus. Once inside a cell, it commandeers the cell's machinery to produce more viruses and cover them with protein coat that naturally occurring viruses wear.

Dr. Spiegelman spoke of his work before the American Cancer Society's annual science writers' seminar.

Like the M16, the Stoner features high muzzle velocity which heightens its killing power at short range.

The Stoner's features, its backers say, are accuracy, reliability, ruggedness and ease of maintenance in the field -- all, together with light weight, desirable in the kind of fighting being waged in Viet Nam.

Fouled Up' Communism Confusing Communists

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON AP -- Communism is getting so fouled up it not only has people in this country confused, it has Communists confused, too.

The Red-ruled world, or most of it, has assembled in Moscow to hear the latest Soviet policy lines on Stalin, Viet Nam, and other Communist problems.

But Red China isn't there. Just last week it wrote the Russians that it wouldn't go, accusing them of "dirty deals" and of working hand in glove with the United States to rule the world.

This ended, probably for a long time, any possibility of reconciliation between the two giants of communism. Only pro-Chinese Communist parties in Japan, New Zealand and Albania rejected the invitation to Moscow.

This shows poor support for the Red Chinese who have suffered one setback after another in the past couple of years in various parts of the world where they once had influence.

But this is a split between Communist parties. The New York Times Sunday had something to say about what's happening inside the most advanced of all the Communist countries, the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet society the Communists built," said the Times, "is exciting and awesome; inside it the least exciting, the least inspiring, the least promising element is the Communist party itself."

"It works as the vanguard of the 20th century revolution finished, the Communist party goes into its 23rd congress (the present Moscow meeting) desperately searching for a new role."

"In the changing Soviet society the party is following, not leading."

And Monday the Times reported, "In Eastern Europe today Communist ideology tends to wither away while Communism remains."

In other words, communism is getting to be old hat to the people in Communist countries who see the Western countries bulging with prosperity.

This is understandable. The Russian revolution is now 48 years old. That was long enough to establish a base but its ideas are frozen in the philosophy, ideology and pronouncements of pre-1917 revolutionary days.

Half a century is often time enough for a revolution to wear itself out. The French revolution in far less time than that was lost in the individual ambitions of Napoleon.

And the philosophy of Herbert Spencer -- that the rich are rich because they are superior and the poor are poor because they are inferior -- which prevailed much of American capitalist thinking in the late 19th century and the first 35 years of this one is pretty well discarded.

It was lost when the United States government became a welfare state with its Social Security program in 1935 and in 1946 when Congress declared for the first time in that body that the government had a responsibility for the general welfare.

Yet one so-called expert after another in recent weeks has suggested the United States take a new and softer line toward Red China to improve both trade and relations.

How they can expect that to happen -- no matter how hard the United States tried -- is hard to imagine when it is remembered that Red China has spurned all efforts by its Communist-neighbor, the Soviet Union, to end their rift.

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said Monday when asked if this country was thinking of ending its opposition to a U.N. seat for Red China:

"We have had no indication of a change of attitude on the part of the Red Chinese."

said. Furthermore, we have the technology and the tools for adequate waste water treatment, together with public support to put an end to the pollution of waterways, he continued.

Despite all these favorable factors, however, Van Heuvelen made it clear that there still is no single adequate solution because "pollution problems are individual and each needs its own engineering approach."

Not the least of these individual problems, he said, is the matter of determining what is adequate for a given locality. And such standards in turn depend upon the larger question of what will be the ultimate use of a particular waterway.

"Today there is no single clear guideline in this area," he said. "We hear a multitude of engineering views, conservation views and public health demands for varying effluent standards and stream quality."

"The sanitary engineering profession finds itself in the center of public discussions over standards, bond issues, sanitary districts and exploding algae populations in lakes and streams."

Thus, even though there may be general agreement that we must clean up water supplies, there also must be individual agreement on the precise degree of purity needed for each waterway, and the best means of attaining such an objective.

Two-Faced Mustard Fights Cancer Cells

By FRANK CAREY
PITTSBURGH AP -- A scientist reported today development of a two-faced, Jekyll-and-Hyde type of cancer-fighting drug which apparently becomes evil only when it hits cancer cells.

It's a new and seemingly safer version of the cancer-attacking nitrogen -- mustard drugs that are chemical cousins of skin-blistering poison gases used on World War I battlefields.

The new drug -- so far used only in animals but with promising results -- has been dubbed a "stingless mustard," in that it attacks cancer cells like conventional mustards, but apparently lacks their unwanted "sting" for normal cells.

Dr. Zinon O. Papanastassiou of Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., told about it in a report prepared for the 151st national meeting of the American Chemical Society.

He said the synthetic compound -- called ADL-45 -- has shown high activity against a wide variety of experimental animal tumors, especially against two types of leukemia cells. Further testing is under way, looking towards the possibility of trials in humans, he said.

But he declared in an interview supplementing his technical report that "I am only very cautiously optimistic" about whether it will be useful against human malignancy.

"It is difficult to tell, at this time," he said, "the significance of our work."

"Cancer is a dreadful disease affecting a large number of people, and therefore any agent that looks promising is of interest."

"On the other hand, we are well aware that many new compounds which have been shown to offer some promise in animal experiments have not proved so promising for the clinical control of human cancer."

Colorado Springs -- If we can send men to the moon we ought to be able to rid our waterways of pollution, a water pollution control expert said today at the American Medical Association's Nineteenth National conference on Rural Health.

Indeed, our space program might provide information highly beneficial to the pollution problems encountered in our earthly sources of water, W. Van Heuvelen, chief of Environmental Health and Engineering Services of the North Dakota State Department of Health, told medical and farm leaders meeting in the Broadmoor Hotel.

"Some of the staggering water management problems which are involved in manned space programs may at some future date appear as the best solution on our own continent," he

How many times have you greeted a neighbor or a delivery man with a smile when you were seething inside because he dripped rainwater all over your floor?

How many times have you gritted your teeth to keep from nagging when your husband walked across a muddy yard and into your kitchen?

If you've had these experiences -- and what homeowner hasn't -- you know children aren't the only ones who track mud or snow into the house. Everyone does when the weather is bad.

What's the solution? It's a mudroom, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. A mudroom is the equivalent of a first floor powder room in that it has at least a lavatory and water closet. However, the mudroom is usually "plainer" than a powder room and is located at the back or side entrance. It has an entrance from outside into the house, usually into the kitchen.

The chief purpose of the mudroom is to trap mud, snow and other dirt before it gets into the living area by changing the traffic pattern into the house. Family members and visitors (except the occasional person who comes to the front door) can leave boots and wet clothing in the mudroom. The water closet will save children countless trips into the house even on nice days. Family members can wash up there after such outdoor chores as gardening, lawn sprinkling or car-washing. Vegetables from the garden can be washed there, and flowers arranged.

If there's room, the mudroom should have a counter work space to facilitate doing the cleanup chores. It should also have a shower with a receptor tub. This converts the mudroom into another bath facility that can be used by family members both mornings and evenings, thereby easing the traffic jam.

"The spacemen will live with a closed system where all the water used will be recovered and reused. This is the ultimate in pollution control and may someday need to be adopted in some water scarce areas."

According to Van Heuvelen, "Water pollution control has become the most discussed, the most politically potent, and yet one of the most misunderstood of our environmental health problems."

"Contrary to what we are sometimes led to believe, there has been much progress made in water pollution control," he said.

Indeed, our space program might provide information highly beneficial to the pollution problems encountered in our earthly sources of water W. "At this rural health conference we must recognize the rural population's responsibility to reduce pollution and improve our water resources for the benefit of all people."

"Part of this moral responsibility is to treat our waste waters and our pollution sources with regard to the rights, interests and welfare of our neighbors. Legislation, standards and regulations will not do the job alone. Bold steps to develop adequate treatment facilities and remove all sources of pollution will eventually abate the pollution of the waters of this nation."

Cancer Shrinks By New Treatment

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer
PHOENIX, ARIZ. AP -- A strange difference in the energy system of one fast-growing cancer is being exploited to help its victims, a University of Southern California doctor said.

The cancer is melanoma, sometimes called black cancer. It seems to rely on the oxygen-carrying potential of an essential chemical helper called tyrosinase, said Dr. Harry B. Demopoulos, a USC pathologist.

By two methods, he has tried to cut down on the amount of this vital chemical available to the tumor, and it has resulted in shrinking cancers in some 80 per cent of his patients.

It requires, however, a stringent diet to eliminate a basic amino acid that is found in the protein of meat, milk, eggs and other foods. In fact, patients are often reduced to eating a powder-like combination of selected materials, plus certain fruits and vegetables.

In an alternative method, a drug is used to pull copper out of the system, further cutting down on the chemical energy available to the tumor, Demopoulos told the American Cancer Society's eighth annual Science Writer's Seminar.

The treatment has several drawbacks. The diet is difficult and unpleasant. It takes two months of the drug treatment to wring the copper out of the system--a relatively long period when the patient is suffering

Of the first eight patients treated with the diet, Demopoulos said, three could not stay with it. The other five died of cerebral hemorrhages when seeds of their cancers apparently broke blood vessels in their brains. However, in all cases, doctors found at autopsy that the cancers showed signs of regressing.

In 22 later patients, results have been better, but the research program has been under way only 2 1/2 years.

While a few cancers have regressed completely, Demopoulos said, most patients showed an arrested disease and had to remain under treatment.

Last year metropolitan area suburbs had a bigger population, 68 million, than central cities with 61 million.

Prosperity note: Experts estimate it now takes from $50,000 to $75,000 to buy the acreage, equipment and livestock to start a successful farm. But the investment seems to pay off. The average farmer's net income has risen 40 per cent in the last five years.

Modern morality: Some 85 per cent of brides are pregnant in all marriages today in which both partners are high school pupils. About one in every 20 American babies today is born out of wedlock.

The price of hate: Some psychiatrists believe that holding grudges against others can reduce by 50 per cent your potential level of personal happiness. So, if you can't forgive or forget, it's yourself you hurt most.

DRESSING UP POTATOES

Potatoes are a lot like dresses. Every woman has her "favorite" dress which she enjoys wearing time after time. But like dresses, potatoes sometimes need just a dash of appeal to impart added enjoyment.

Potatoes can have glamour. Companionable potatoes can be combined with vegetables, poultry, fish and seafood and/or dairy products and they will emerge as irresistible dishes capable of tempting even the most discriminating eater.

Diced red beets added to hashbrown potatoes become "red - flannel" potatoes, a favorite dish of the Northeast. Sharp and snappy cheddar cheese, together with some diced parsley, transforms creamed potatoes into a tantalizing blend of flavors enjoyed throughout the Nation. Soups, chowders, scalloped dishes, creamed confections and baked casseroles have lots more "eating appeal" when they contain potatoes.

Thanks to Finnish fishermen, lots of delectably delicious seafood fare have been created to utilize their tasty catches.

ESCALOPED potatoes and salmon make a delicious casserole and is prepared like this: Alternate layers of sliced, peeled, raw potatoes and skinned, canned salmon in a greased casserole. Season each layer with butter, chopped onion, salt and pepper. Pour in enough milk to cover the layers and sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate 350 degree oven for 40 to 50 minutes. Served with a tossed green salad, this meal is complete.

DEAR POLLY--I wanted a bulletin board for such a long time and finally thought up a way I could make one myself. I know how to sew so I took some let over homespun material and made a window shade. It is not a real one but just looks like one.

I hemmed all the raw edges and sewed fringe around the bottom. The top seam has a stick of wood slipped through it so the fabric hangs straight. A string was tied at the top so it could hang on a hook. A window shade pull was put at the bottom. Articles, papers and so on may be pinned to the "shade" which can be made out of material that goes with a room's color scheme.

Remove the old elastic, fold the slip through the middle and cut out the neck and armholes. Their size will depend on the size of the child. Trim the armholes and neckline with narrow lace and you have a very pretty slip.

Bad Advice Given To Three Experts

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON AP -- Three experts have told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee it got bad advice from earlier witnesses at China policy hearings who urged U. S. recognition of Red China and its admission to the United Nations.

Yale Prof. David N. Rowe said the policy for the United States to follow toward the Peking regime is one of "intense and deep hostility."

In a statement, he added that the effect of the China policy hearings is to persuade Communists in Hanoi, Peking and Moscow "of divisions of opinion in the United States that do not exist in fact."

Former Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., a one-time medical missionary to China, urged stepped-up bombings of North Viet Nam's "war plants, power plants, oil tanks," and whatever is important to Ho Chi Minh's prosecution of the war.

University of Washington Prof. George E. Taylor testified the United States must continue to assist South Viet Nam and other nations that feel Communist pressure with political programs "backed by force."

Monday's three witnesses had been urged to appear by committee Republicans who wanted them to offset previous witnesses called by Chairman J. W. Fulbright. Those witnesses said the United States should follow a policy of "containment--but not isolation" toward recognition of Red China, its U. N. admission and trade relations.

Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat, said he hopes to conclude the current hearings Wednesday. No session was scheduled for today.

POTATOES, PLEASE

The potato has had quite a struggle to achieve its honored place in the American diet. Actually, few people knew about the potato at all until the beginning of the 16th century. And then they didn't take to it too well, for there were all sorts of prejudices against the potato.

When the potato plant was brought to North America, it was still fighting for recognition. Even as late as 1740, people in New England thought that they would shorten men's lives and make them unhealthy.

But, as the adage goes, nature will out, and the opinion about the potato has greatly changed since its early days. Today the potato is the staple food of hundreds of millions of people. Indeed in this respect the potato is surpassed only by rice.

Authorities never tire of telling about the good economical, versatile potato. They know that if you eat them daily, you get as much as one-fourth of your Vitamin C quota -- besides some of the B vitamins, iron and other important minerals and starch.

Right now they can add, too, that potatoes are so plentiful the U. S. Department of Agriculture has them prominently on its Plentiful Foods list for March.

When buying potatoes, remember that the best ones are firm and clean, have shallow eyes and no cuts, decay or green spots.

For good mashed or baked potatoes, use a mealy, flaky variety of potato; for salads, creaming, and the like, use firm, waxy kinds that hold their shape.

The self-service or do-it-yourself laundry dates back at least to 1832, the year a woman in London, England, set up a laundry consisting of a wash boiler, mangle, etc., and charged a penny for the use of the equipment. A larger community self-service laundry was established in Liverpool in 1842. Establishments of this type soon appeared in the United States and Europe.

Milk Bath for Thirsty Skins

Even youths born in the 1940s are familiar with milk baths popularized by such film stars as Pola Negri and Claudette Colbert. Now the milk bath comes into the home, but not via a late, late movie on television. A special milk bath contains ingredients found in milk, plus emollients and lubricants to soothe thirsty skins. Dump a tablespoon or two (left) into a tub of water for a fragrant blue foam. After the bath, smooth on an enriched body cream (center) containing additional lubricants. Massage on legs and feet, especially susceptible to drying wintry elements. Massage on face (right) an after-bath dusting powder with a special applicator.

'66' Came In As A Lamb, But Look At It Today

WASHINGTON AP -- The year 1966 seemed almost uncomplicated, starting out. There was the Vietnamese war, of course, and the question of whether or not to resume bombing.

One of the major visible problems was President Johnson's task of getting his programs through Congress. Then he ordered bombing resumed. And then one thing led to another. Critics in and out of Congress called for restraint in Viet Nam. Johnson said he was full of restraint. They had all kinds of suggestions on how to fight the war but practically no solutions.

There were street demonstrations against the war all over America, and as recently as last Saturday. But all this was only part of Johnson's troubles. French President Charles de Gaulle, as usual, became a problem.

He rocked NATO, the 15-nation Atlantic Alliance, by declaring he would pull French forces out of the integrated command system and out from French soil all foreign troops and bases -- meaning NATO's -- not under French command.

Then unexpectedly Portugal suddenly said the West should no longer expect "automatic cooperation" from her. Portugal is allied with the United States for several things, particularly for aiding countries she dislikes.

But, before Portugal gets over its peeve, it may cancel the permission it gave this country back in 1947 to use its Azores Islands for U.S. air and naval bases.

Some experts on Red China, and some people not so expert, have called on the United States to end its efforts to keep the Communist giant out of the United Nations.

These efforts, successful since 1950, may be not good any more. Year by year the United States has been losing votes on the question of keeping Red China out. So out of necessity it may agree to let Red China in.

But if it does, it will have to insist it ally, Chiang Kai-shek, whose Nationalist Chinese occupy only Formosa but claim to be the government of all China, can stay in the United Nations.

Since Red China has indicated it will refuse a U.N. seat so long as Chiang stays, the United States may hope to accomplish by the appearance of agreeableness what it probably no longer can do by opposition.

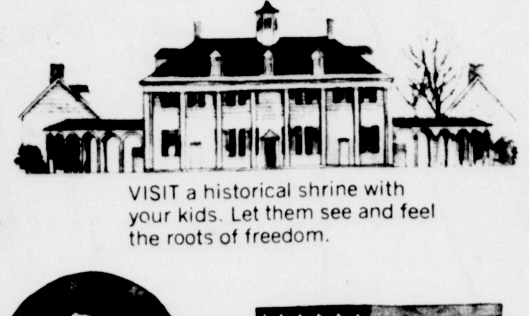

In Viet Nam events have taken a rather ghastly turn. Without American support the South Vietnamese couldn't last five minutes against the Viet Cong. Sometimes they look almost politically irresponsible.

The Buddhist, who helped topple President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963, now want the military government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, which is supported by the United States, ousted and replaced by a civilian government promptly.

Magic Words . . . PAY CALL

The words "pay call" have the same magic ring for the soldier in the Modern Army as they had for his counterpart in the Army of yesteryear.

However, the Army's pay system has come a long way since the days of the Revolutionary War when the Army's first Paymaster General, James Warren, moved into the field paying Washington's troops while they were besieging the British in Boston. These soldiers were paid in cash or, more often, given Congressionally issued printed promises to pay which depreciated rapidly. In fact, it is often said that our soldiers won the Revolution on money that was "not worth a continental."

It's Computerized

Today's soldier is usually paid by check which can be cashed for hard money. Along with his check, he also receives a computerized accounting statement--"Military Pay Voucher," DA Form 2349.

The voucher identifies the soldier by name, pay grade, service number, and Social Security number. At a glance, the recipient can ascertain his years of service for pay, the amount of his basic pay and allowances, and the dollars deducted for taxes, and allotments. In the Tax column, the payee can also see the cumulative amount of federal and FICA taxes deducted from his pay thus far in the year.

A Recap

A final column on the form gives the soldier a recap of his pay for the month in question--total entitlements, collections, and amount paid or carried forward. The amount paid should agree with the individual's paycheck.

Even modern computers do make mistakes and it is to the soldier's advantage to know and understand the pay system and his pay voucher. A few minutes to become familiar with the Form and another few minutes to check your pay out against it each month could mean extra dollars in your pocket. (ANF)

Cancer Shrinks By New Treatment

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. AP -- A strange difference in the energy system of one fast-growing cancer is being exploited to help its victims, a University of Southern California doctor said.

The cancer is melanoma, sometimes called black cancer. It seems to rely on the oxygen-carrying potential of an essential chemical called tyrosinase, said Dr. Harry B. Demopoulos, a USC pathologist.

By two methods, he has tried to cut down on the amount of this vital chemical available to the tumor, and it has resulted in shrinking cancers in some 80 per cent of his patients.

It requires, however, a stringent diet to eliminate a basic amino acid that is found in the protein of meat, milk, eggs and other foods. In fact, patients are often reduced to eating a powder-like combination of selected materials, plus certain fruits and vegetables.

In an alternative method, a drug is used to pull copper out of the system, further cutting down on the chemical energy available to the tumor.

Demopoulos told the American Cancer Society's eighth annual Science Writer's seminar.

The treatment has several drawbacks. The diet is difficult and unpleasant. It takes two months of the drug treatment to bring the copper out of the system—a relatively long period when the patient is suffering from such a wild growing cancer.

Of the first eight patients treated with the diet, Demopoulos said, three could not stay with it. The other five died of cerebral hemorrhages when seeds of their cancers apparently broke blood vessels in their brains. However, in all cases, doctors found at autopsy that the cancers showed signs of regressing.

In 22 later patients, results have been better, but the research program has been under way only 2 1/2 years.

While a few cancers have regressed completely, Demopoulos said, most patients showed an arrested disease and had to remain under treatment.

Last year metropolitan area suburbs had a bigger population, 68 million, than central cities with 61 million.

Prosperity note: Experts estimate it now takes from $50,000 to $75,000 to buy the acreage, equipment and livestock to start a successful farm. But the investment seems to pay off. The average farmer's net income has risen 40 per cent in the last five years.

Only 18 states require annual safety inspection of cars.

Don't get your dander up if someone calls you a psephologist. He just means you are a scientific student of elections.

Modern morality: Some 85 per cent of brides are pregnant in all marriages today in which both partners are high school pupils. About one in every 20 American babies today is born out of wedlock.

The price of hate: Some psychiatrists believe that holding grudges against others can reduce by 50 per cent your potential level of personal happiness. So, if you can't forgive or forget, it's yourself you hurt most.

NEW YORK AP -- Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Home is a safer place for the husband than for the wife. Because she spends more time in it, she is twice as likely to have an accident there.

But home seems to be a pretty dangerous place for anybody. In a recent year there were 22 million home accidents, compared to nine million on the job.

Make a Bulletin Board

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—I wanted a bulletin board for such a long time and finally thought up a way I could make one myself. I know how to sew so I took some left over homespun material and made a window shade. It is not a real one but just looks like one.

I hemmed all the raw edges and sewed fringe across the bottom. The top seam has a stick of wood slipped through it so the fabric hangs straight. A string was tied at the top so it could hang on a hook. A window shade pull was put at the bottom. Articles, papers and so on may be pinned to the "shade" which can be made out of material that goes with a room's color scheme.

DEAR POLLY—I am an amateur seamstress. After having to remove machine stitching several times, and finding frayed edges, I started to cut out EVERY pattern with my pinky shears. This eliminates frayed material and, after the garment is finished, the seams do not have to be pinked.

DEAR POLLY—Wash the bottoms of toddlers' shoes before having their pictures made and they will look much nicer in the finished prints.

GIRLS—I had never thought of that before but the soles of toddlers' shoes usually do show in photographs.

DEAR POLLY—The Pointers are the first thing I read in the paper. Mothers, did you know that when the elastic gives way in your half-slips you can make pretty slips for your little girls? Remove the old elastic, fold the slip through the middle and cut out the neck and armholes. Their size will depend on the size of the child. Trim the armholes and neckline with narrow lace and you have a very pretty slip.

DEAR POLLY—I use different sizes of hair rollers when I set my own hair. I had an extra set of kitchen canisters and found that they made excellent containers for rollers. I separated the rollers as to size and then put the different sizes in different canisters. This works wonders when I am struggling with wet hair as I can now reach for the proper size without groping around.

DEAR POLLY—I polish my stainless steel stove and sink with an old nylon stocking and find it does a wonderful job.

Bad Advice Given To Three Experts

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON AP -- Three experts have told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee it got bad advice from earlier witnesses at China policy hearings who urged U. S. recognition of Red China and its admission to the United Nations.

Yale Prof. David N. Rowe said the policy for the United States to follow toward the Peking regime is one of "intense and deep hostility."

In a statement, he added that the effect of the China policy hearings is to persuade Communists in Hanoi, Peking and Moscow "of divisions of opinion in the United States that do not exist in fact."

Former Rep. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., a one-time medical missionary to China, urged stepped-up bombings of North Viet Nam's "war plants, power plants, oil tanks," and whatever is important to Ho Chi Minh's prosecution of the war.

University of Washington Prof. George E. Taylor testified that the United States must continue to assist South Viet Nam and other nations that feel Communist pressure with political programs "backed by force."

Monday's three witnesses had been urged to appear by committee Republicans who wanted them to offset previous witnesses called by Chairman J. W. Fulbright. Those witnesses said the United States should follow a policy of "containment—but not isolation" toward recognition of Red China, its U. N. admission and trade relations.

Science Fair Gets Into Gear

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Works in science, ranging from relatively simple experiments and demonstration techniques to elaborate and complex research projects, filled the floor of Houck Field House today at the opening of the four-day Southeast Missouri Regional Science Fair.

This will mark the 10th year for the event under the co-sponsorship of State College. Advance entry lists showed 204 exhibits will be on the floor. They represent the work of a total of 226 participants from 25 junior high schools and 23 senior high schools over southeast Missouri. The entry list was limited this year for the first time.

Long rows of tables were placed in preparation for the flood of exhibitors. Each participant has been assigned a specified place into which he must fit his exhibit, limited as to width and depth.

Judges, representatives of participating organizations and others will be guests of State College at a luncheon at Memorial Hall ballroom. There judges received their instructions from Dr. Robert J. Kuster, chief of judges, and from Dr. E. L. Bahn, Jr., director of the fair.

It is expected that judging will be completed by about 5. Winning exhibits will be tagged with replicas of ribbons to be awarded in the presentation ceremonies Friday night. These will show first, second and third place winners in each of the seven categories in junior and senior division. Major winners will not be announced until the Friday night program.

The fair will be open to the public from 9 until 9 today and from 3 to 5 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. No exhibits may be removed from the field house until after the awards ceremony Friday night.

Dr. Bahn said any school class may visit the fair outside of the regular showing hours. No special arrangements are necessary, he said, and the class or school may go directly to the field house. Personnel will be on duty. The only requirement is that there be adequate teacher and adult supervision and that pupils be warned not to touch or handle the exhibits.

During the fair, a number of State College student groups will assist with the fair. They will monitor the aisles between the exhibits and present programs to those attending. Others helped today to prepare the exhibits.

Among the student organizations assisting are the American Chemical Society student affiliate, Physics Club, Biology Club, Mathematics Club, Alpha Phi Omega and several from the Earth Science Department. Entries to be shown are in the following fields: botany, medicine and health, zoology, chemistry and biochemistry, earth and space science, physics and mathematics and computers. Visitors will be directed to each category by overhead signs.

The work is entirely that of pupils. Parents and teachers may only advise and may not conduct experiments or research for participants, or build their projects for them. The exhibits to be shown are the best from among an estimated 2,000 shown in school fairs throughout southeast Missouri.

Science Fair Gets Into Gear

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Works in science, ranging from relatively simple experiments and demonstration techniques to elaborate and complex research projects, filled the floor of Houck Field House today at the opening of the four-day Southeast Missouri Regional Science Fair.

This will mark the 10th year for the event under the co-sponsorship of State College. Advance entry lists showed 204 exhibits will be on the floor. They represent the work of a total of 226 participants from 25 junior high schools and 23 senior high schools over southeast Missouri. The entry list was limited this year for the first time.

Long rows of tables were placed in preparation for the flood of exhibitors. Each participant has been assigned a specified place into which he must fit his exhibit, limited as to width and depth.

Judges, representatives of the participating organizations and others will be guests of State College at a luncheon at Memorial Hall ballroom. There judges received their instructions from Dr. Robert J. Kuster, chief of judges, and from Dr. E. L. Bahn, Jr., director of the fair.

It is expected that judging will be completed by about 5. Winning exhibits will be tagged with replicas of ribbons to be awarded in the presentation ceremonies Friday night. These will show first, second and third place winners in each of the seven categories in junior and senior division. Major winners will not be announced until the Friday night program.

The fair will be open to the public from 5 until 9 today and from 3 to 9 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. No exhibits may be removed from the field house until after the awards ceremony Friday night. Dr. Bahn said any school class may visit the fair outside of the regular showing hours. No special arrangements are necessary, he said and the class or school may go directly to the field house.

Personnel will be on duty. The only requirement is that there be adequate teacher and adult supervision and that pupils be warned not to touch or handle the exhibits, Dr. Bahn said. During the fair, a number of State College student groups will assist with the fair. They will monitor the aisles between the exhibits and present programs to those attending. Others helped today to prepare the exhibits.

Among the student organizations assisting are the American Chemical Society student affiliate, Physics Club, Biology Club, Mathematics Club, Alpha Phi Omega and several from the Earth Science Department. Entries to be shown are in the following fields: botany, medicine and health, zoology, chemistry and biochemistry, earth and space science, physics and mathematics and computers. Visitors will be directed to each category by overhead signs.

The work is entirely that of pupils. Parents and teachers may only advise and may not conduct experiments or research for participants, or build their projects for them. The exhibits to be shown are the best from among an estimated 2,000 shown in school fairs throughout southeast Missouri.

QUICK QUIZ

God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself. (II Corinthians 5:19, RSV)
PRAYER: Forgive me, O God, my sins that wounded Thy heart and broke our friendship. Give me the willingness to confess my guilt and the courage to be always obedient. May I live in perfect harmony again with Thee. In Christ's name. Amen.
Utilities executive Chester S. Stackpole, addressing a conference of employers' unions, produced some interesting statistics. In a certain housing project, half the homes were equipped with air conditioners while the other half had none. After a suitable period of investigation, it was found that the air-conditioned homes had two and a half times as many babies as the others.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: When a handsome, brilliant, promising and deeply-loved young man just 22 years of age commits suicide what can his parents say to themselves? You have so many answers for others -- do you have an answer for us?--
SHATTERED MOTHER AND DAD

Dear Mother and Dad: Life is filled with mysteries. Why, out of a row of glorious tulips, straight and strong, their proud heads turned upward, does one tulip suddenly wither and die? The same sun and soil and loving care nurtured them all. It's useless for me to say, "Don't blame yourselves!"-- this asks the impossible. But as time passes, and reason replaces your tortured emotions, you will blame yourselves less and less. For you will come to realize that many things are beyond your control--that total understanding of another human is impossible and each of us remains part stranger even to those we love most.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I bought a large old home and had it converted into an apartment house. We have six apartments besides our own. All our tenants are lovely people except one young woman who certainly fooled us when we rented to her.

This woman works part-time in a store during the day but I think she uses this job as a cover-up for what she does at night. I have no proof, but it doesn't make sense that a girl would entertain four or five male friends almost every evening in the week just because she's so lonely.

My husband says we should mind our own business. What do you say?--WONDERING
Dear Wondering: If this girl is doing what I think she's doing, it is indeed your business because you own the property. Ask a lawyer how to handle the situation. If your guess (and mine) is wrong, an accusation of this kind could be mighty expensive.

Dear Ann Landers: I went with a girl (I will call her Cynthia) for 18 months. When we started to date she was well-developed 15 and I was several years older. Because of her youth and lack of experience I was able to persuade her to do some things that I am now deeply ashamed of.

Recently, at my suggestion, we agreed to cancel our steady arrangement. We have a standing date, however, every other Saturday night. I like Cynthia a great deal but I don't think I am in love with her.

Now my conscience is bothering me because I'm afraid I have started her on something that may lead her into serious trouble. She denies it violently but from what I've heard from others I suspect she is not telling me the truth.

Do you think I owe this girl marriage? Cynthia is a mature 18 and has had one year of college. I am still in graduate school. I'd appreciate your opinion. --GUILTY

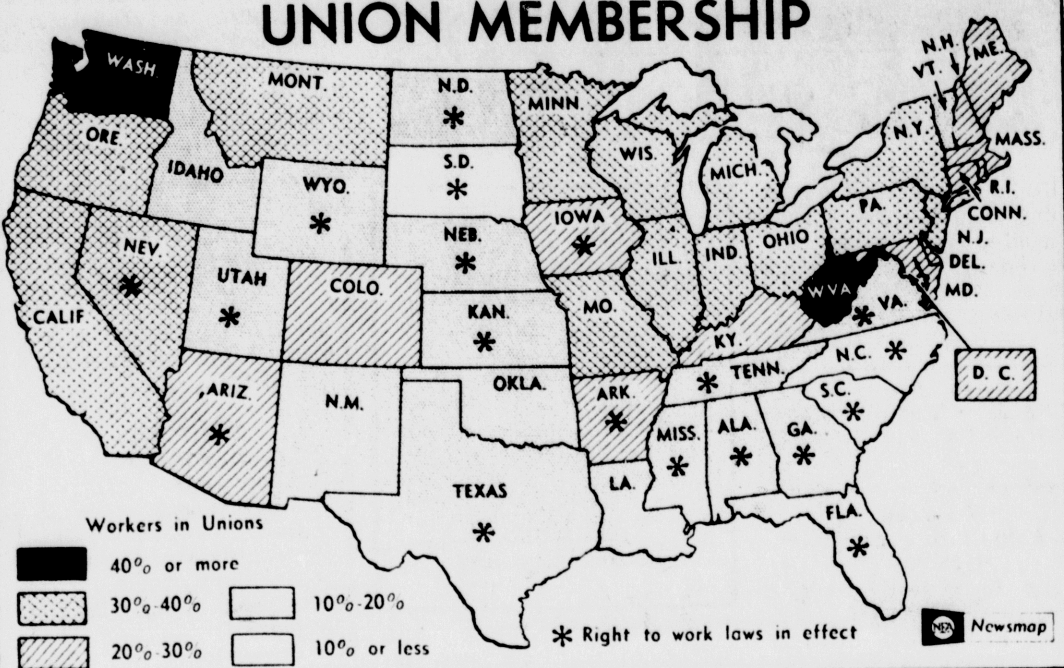

Dear G: You have brought your guilty conscience and now you'll have to live with it. But don't marry the girl because you think you owe it to her. The damage you have done is quite enough.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

In Chicago, a stylish matron was walking through a park. Suddenly she stopped before a border of bedraggled petunias and surveyed them with the foot-tapping exasperation of the veteran suburban gardener. Removing her white gloves, she knelt down and resolutely began weeding.

Organized labor's millions of union members are distributed unevenly throughout the country. According to a Labor Department survey based on 1964 figures, nearly half the total membership of 17,187,700 was accounted for by only five states with more than a million unionists each--New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. Total membership was 29.5 per cent of all nonagricultural workers in the nation. Newsmap shows unionization percentages in the separate states. Not shown are Alaska, in the 30-40 per cent category, and Hawaii, with 20-30 per cent. Generally, the 19 states with so-called "right-to-work" laws on the books, banning union shops under a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act which labor for years without success has sought to have Congress repeal, are among the lowest in percentages of union members.

FORT EUSTIS, VA. (AHTNC) -- Army Pvt. Robert C. Bass, whose mother, Mrs. Mary Dent, lives on Route 1, Box 66, New Madrid, Mo., was assigned to the 714th Transportation Battalion at Fort Eustis, Va., March 11.

The 20-year-old soldier, a construction worker in the 714th Transportation Battalion's Company C at Fort Eustis, entered the Army in December 1965. He completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Bass was graduated in 1965 from O'Bannon High School in New Madrid.

Gas Bills To Be Slashed

Gas bills will be reduced for Missourians in Hannibal and O'Fallon as a result of informal conferences called recently by the Public Service Commission.

The Public Service Commission has approved a new schedule of rates filed by the Citizens Gas Company of Hannibal. This action will net an annual reduction of $37,074.93 to natural gas customers of Hannibal.

Also on file at the Commission are revised natural gas rates for O'Fallon citizens who are customers of the O'Fallon Gas Service Company. The reduction there will mean an annual saving on gas bills of $14,377 to the average consumer.

"Both reductions were recommended by the PSC at recent informal conferences here in Jefferson City," explained PSC Chairman William R. Clark. "The conferences were a part of the Commission's continuing surveillance of regulated public utilities. These voluntary reductions at O'Fallon and Hannibal are results of the recommendations by the PSC staff. Residential customers of both gas utilities will realize the larger portion of the two reductions."

The Citizens Gas Company of Hannibal listed three classifications in its $37,000 plus reduction. Of the total annual reduction, however, some $35,208.98 will go to domestic and small commercial customers.

The O'Fallon reduction to natural gas customers amounts to $6,394.65 annually. The company said that the reduction was made possible partly by a reduction in cost of natural gas purchased from the St. Charles Gas Corporation since January. The O'Fallon company serves 445 customers.

Citizens Gas Company customers reduction will become effective on April 21, 1966. The new rates for O'Fallon, as Service customers are to become effective May 1, 1966.

Three New Programs On ABC Network

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television -- Radio Writer
NEW YORK AP -- ABC was a busy network Monday, ushering in three new programs.

"The Avengers," a British-made series that reportedly is a smash overseas, contained a bit of everything from comedy to science fiction.

The leading character is a cool, elegant type of Englishman who affects Edwardian jackets with velvet collars, a bowler hat and an umbrella with a concealed camera. His beautiful female assistant goes in for leather slacks and jackets and is a karate expert. It's sort of like Sherlock Holmes with Honey West in tow.

Monday night this pair was mixed up in multiple murders committed by a busy robot which had been programmed by a mad scientist to kill. The anti-hero and anti-heroine were properly casual about everything, including the wind-up which was a silly grotesque fight between two killer robots.

It was an hour of nonsense, not done very well, and it comes along pretty late in our cycle of tongue-in-cheek super-spy, super-agent series.

In the afternoon there was "Confidential for Women," which, as the title suggests, is a variation of the usual soap opera formula--and a pretty sticky one at that.

It is dedicated to the exploration of emotional problems, but differs from the other daytime series in that each emotional problem will be explored in five programs a week. Next week they will tackle a new problem with new actors.

James Daly and Neva Patterson, two good performers, are mixed in this series which seems certain to concentrate on human misery.

"Arlene Dahl's Beauty Spot," the third arrival, comes and goes so fast in the late afternoon that it is easy to miss. It lasts for five minutes and what program there is comes sandwiched between the opening and closing commercials.

tion was made possible partly by a reduction in cost of natural gas purchased from the St. Charles Gas Corporation since January. The O'Fallon company serves 445 customers.

Citizens Gas Company customers reduction will become effective on April 21, 1966. The new rates for O'Fallon, as Service customers are to become effective May 1, 1966.

U.S. Changes Military Operations

PLEIKU, Viet Nam AP -- U.S. authorities have changed their system of naming military operations in Viet Nam, apparently at the behest of image-conscious officials in Washington.

Such names as Operation Masher are out, a U.S. military source reported. Instead, this system is being followed:

Operations in the northernmost 1st Corps area are being named after states Texas and Utah have already been honored, and in the 2nd Corps area after famous Americans. Presidents Lincoln and Fillmore are lending their names to two current operations, and in the 3rd Corps area after cities and counties Silver City, Honolulu.

An exception is Operation Jackstay, the current U.S. Marine sweep southeast of Saigon. Nobody seems to know where that one came from.

Two Charged With Manslaughter

ST. LOUIS AP -- A man and the mother of two small boys who died about 2 1/2 hours apart early Saturday were named Sunday in warrants charging manslaughter.

William C. Long, 24, of St. Louis, was charged in the deaths of Ronald Spight, 2, and his brother, Lorenzo, 10 months.

Authorities said the boys had suffered internal injuries, in addition, Coroner Helen Taylor said Ronald had peritonitis and pneumonia.

Long took Lorenzo to a hospital and officers took Ronald 2 1/2 hours later after Long had called them, police said. Both children were dead on arrival.

Another child, Sherry, 3, was treated for fractured ribs.

Bank Prexy Rests In Rest Room

MIAMI, Fla. AP -- A bank president interrupted a mid-day burglary when he dropped by his office Sunday to do some weekend desk work, but the loss may reach $25,000.

The banker, Frank Braunstein, 53, was handcuffed, forced into a rest room at gunpoint and left on the floor.

His son Ted, 18, called police when he went to the bank, the Second National of North Miami, to pick up his father. He called officers when he failed to get a reply after knocking at the bank door.

The younger Braunstein, a student home on vacation from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., had driven his father to the bank at 11:30 a.m. He returned at 3 p.m.

Police said it was not known how much cash was missing; bank officials said it could not be more than $25,000.

Kennett Man Killed In Germany

PADERBORN, GERMANY AP -- One of three crewmen killed in the crash of a helicopter last Friday near Paderborn, Germany, was a Missourian.

He was Chief Warrant Officer Joe W. Boyd, co-pilot, whose mother, Mrs. Monetta Stacy, lives at 205 Elaine Drive in Kennett.

The other victims were the pilot, 1st Lt. Gerald Belcher of Evansville, Ind., and Spec. 5 Jerry David of Nederland, Tex. The CH34 helicopter was attached to the 11th Transportation Company of the 7th Army Support Command. It crashed while taking part in a training exercise. Cause of the crash is under investigation.

In Louisville a German Shepherd tried to take a bone away from a Chihuahua. Finally the bigger dog picked up the smaller animal, bone and all, and trotted away.

Washington appears to be filled with two kinds of politicians--those trying to get an investigation started, and those trying to get one stopped.

ANN LANDERS

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: When a handsome, brilliant, promising and deeply-loved young man just 22 years of age commits suicide what can his parents say to themselves? You have so many answers for others -- do you have an answer for us?--
SHATTERED MOTHER AND DAD

Dear Mother and Dad: Life is filled with mysteries. Why, out of a row of glorious tulips, straight and strong, their proud heads turned upward, does one tulip suddenly wither and die? The same sun and soil and loving care nurtured them all. It's useless for me to say, "Don't blame yourselves"-- this asks the impossible. But as time passes, and reason replaces your tortured emotions, you will blame yourselves less and less. For you will come to realize that many things are beyond your control--that total understanding of another human is impossible and each of us remains part stranger even to those we love most.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I bought a large old home and had it converted into an apartment house. We have six apartments besides our own. All our tenants are lovely people except one young woman who certainly fooled us when we rented to her.

This woman works part-time in a store during the day but I think she uses this job as a cover-up for what she does at night. I have no proof, but it doesn't make sense that a girl would entertain four or five male friends almost every evening in the week just because she's sociable.

My husband says we should mind our own business. What do you say?--WONDERING

Dear Wondering: If this girl is doing what I think she's doing, it is indeed your business because you own the property. Ask a lawyer how to handle the situation. If your guess (and mine) is wrong, an accusation of this kind could be mighty expensive.

Dear Ann Landers: I went with a girl (I will call her Cynthia) for 18 months. When we started to date she was well-developed, 15 and I was several years older. Because of her youth and lack of experience I was able to persuade her to do some things that I am now deeply ashamed of.

Recently, at my suggestion, we agreed to cancel our steady arrangement. We have a standing date, however, every other Saturday night. I like Cynthia a great deal but I don't think I am in love with her.

Now my conscience is bothering me because I'm afraid I have started her on something that may lead her into serious trouble. She denies it violently but from what I've heard from others I suspect she is not telling me the truth.

Do you think I owe this girl marriage? Cynthia is a mature 18 and has had one year of college. I am still in graduate school. I'd appreciate your opinion.--GUILTY

Dear G: You have brought your guilty conscience and now you'll have to live with it. But don't marry the girl because you think you owe it to her. The damage you have done is quite enough.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Organized labor's millions of union members are distributed unevenly throughout the country. According to a Labor Department survey based on 1964 figures, nearly half the total membership of 17,187,700 was accounted for by only five states with more than a million unionists each--New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. Total membership was 29.5 per cent of all nonagricultural workers in the nation. Newsmap shows unionization percentages in the separate states. Not shown are Alaska, in the 30-40 per cent category, and Hawaii, with 20-30 per cent. Generally, the 19 states with so-called "right-to-work" laws on the books, banning union shops under a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act which labor for years without success has sought to have Congress repeal, are among the lowest in percentages of union members.

Gas Bills To Be Slashed

Gas bills will be reduced for Missourians in Hannibal and O'Fallon as a result of informal conferences called recently by the Public Service Commission. The Public Service Commission has approved a new schedule of rates filed by the Citizens Gas Company of Hannibal. This action will net an annual reduction of $37,074.93 to natural gas customers of Hannibal.

Also on file at the Commission are revised natural gas rates for O'Fallon citizens who are customers of the O'Fallon Gas Service Company. The reduction there will mean an annual saving on gas bills of $14.37 to the average consumer.

"Both reductions were recommended by the PSC at recent informal conferences here in Jefferson City," explained PSC Chairman William R. Clark. "The conferences were apart of the Commission's continuing surveillance of regulated public utilities. These voluntary reductions at O'Fallon and Hannibal are results of the recommendations by the PSC staff. Residential customers of both gas utilities will realize the larger portion of the two reductions."

The Citizens Gas Company of Hannibal listed three classifications in its $37,000 plus reduction. Of the total annual reduction, however, some $35,208.98 will go to domestic and small commercial customers.

The O'Fallon reduction to natural gas customers amounts to $6,394.65 annually. The company said that the reduction was made possible partly by a reduction in cost of natural gas purchased from the St. Charles Gas Corporation since January. The O'Fallon company serves 445 customers.

Citizens Gas Company customers reduction will come effective on April 21, 1966. The new rates for O'Fallon, as Service customers are to become effective May 1, 1966.

Three New Programs On ABC Network

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer
NEW YORK AP -- ABC was a busy network Monday, ushering in three new programs.

"The Avengers," a British-made series that reportedly is a smash overseas, contained a bit of everything from comedy to science fiction.

The leading character is a cool, elegant type of Englishman who affects Edwardian jackets with velvet collars, a bowler hat and an umbrella with a concealed camera. His beautiful female assistant goes in for leather slacks and jackets and is a karate expert. It's sort of like Sherlock Holmes with Honey West in tow.

Monday night this pair was mixed up in multiple murders committed by a busy robot which had been programmed by a mad scientist to kill. The anti-hero and anti-heroine were properly casual about everything, including the wind - up which was a silly grotesque fight between two killer robots.

It was an hour of nonsense, not done very well, and it came along pretty late in its cycle of tongue-in-cheek super-spy, super-agent series.

In the afternoon there was "Confidential for Women," which, as the title suggests, is a variation of the usual soap opera formula--and a pretty sticky one at that.

It is dedicated to the exploration of emotional problems, but differs from the other daytime series in that each emotional problem will be explored in five programs a week. Next week they will tackle a new problem with new actors.

James Daly and Neva Patterson, two good performers, are mixed in this series which seems certain to concentrate on human misery.

"Ariane Dahl's Beauty Spot," the third arrival, comes and goes so fast in the late afternoon that it is easy to miss. It lasts for five minutes and what program there is comes sandwiched between the opening and closing commercials.

Firemen found the body of Oudia Gale Taylor.

The mother, Mrs. Cleora Taylor, 32, and a 3-year-old son, Iris, were injured. Her husband, Oscar, and their six other children escaped unharmed through the second-floor windows. A 13-year-old son, victim of polio, slid down a downspout.

Fewer Farmers, More Money, and Bureaucrats

DO you know that Communist Yugoslavia has just bought $46 million worth of wheat from the United States on terms so long and favorable as to make it practically a gift? This is just one more evidence of the failure of Communism. The Communist countries cannot feed themselves, and are all suffering from hunger.

Communism is tempting to the people of undeveloped countries on the basis of its rosy theory, and not on the basis of performance. Unfortunately, the record of the latter is obscured and the people, in ignorance of the facts, go on believing in and working for the Dream which is a mere figment of the imagination.

The United States Department of Agriculture spent $5.9 billion in 1961 and $7.9 billion in 1964, an increase of two billion dollars.

Meanwhile, the number of employees in the Department increased from 98,694 in 1960 to 117,481 in 1965.

From 1958 to 1964 the farm population declined from 15,635,000 to 12,954,000.

Obviously, the fewer farmers we have the more money and employees is required to implement the government's efforts to control them.

In his December Report from Washington, Congressman Richard L. Roudebush said, "Of the $418,000 allotted for a federal war on poverty project in Indianapolis, $295,000, or roughly three-fourths of the expenditures, will go for salaries of the program administrators."

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Tuesday, March 29, the 88th day of 1966. There are 277 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1847, a U.S. Froce under General Winfield Scott captured Vera Cruz, Mexico. General Scott made Vera Cruz his base for his march on Mexico City.

On this date In 1790, the United States' 10th president, John Tyler, was born.

In 1867, Canada created a dominion under an act of federation.

In 1918, Marshal Ferdinand Foch was named generalissimo of Allied Armies in France.

In 1943, rationing of meat started in the United States.

In 1944, an American naval force attacked the Palau Islands.

Ten years ago -- President Dwight Eisenhower accepted the resignation of Interior Secretary Douglas McKay who quit to run for the Senate seat held by Wayne Morse.

Five years ago -- The SEATO council of ministers ended a meeting at Bangkok Thailand, with a warning against any military takeover of Laos.

One year ago -- Six persons were killed in an Alpine avalanche near Lienz, Austria.

Two Day Old Baby Dies

CHICAGO, ILL. -- William L. Adams, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Adams, of Chicago, Ill., died Sunday afternoon in a Chicago hospital.

Surviving other than the parents are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford McKnight, Sikeston; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Vivian Wimberly, route one.

Graveside rites will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Taylor cemetery near Essex, with Rev. Tursa Perry, pastor of First Assembly of God Church, Morehouse, officiating. Jackson Funeral Home will be in charge of arrangements.

David Tanner Dies in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS -- David Norman Tanner, 70, died today at 4:30 a.m. in the Missouri Pacific Hospital here. He was born Aug. 1, 1895 at Stone Fort, Ill., son of George Washington and Martha Ann Thornton Tanner, in New Madrid county.

A retired railroad switchman, he was married Nov. 4, 1915, to Miss Irma Mabel LaPlant, who survives at the home. He was a member of the New Harmony Baptist Church.

Other survivors are four daughters, Mrs. James Scott, East Prairie, Mrs. Don Williams, and Mrs. Billy Waters, both of Texarkana, Ark., and Mrs. Billy Weaver, St. Louis; four sons, Michael Tanner, at home, Dave, Robert and Jim Tanner, all of St. Louis; one sister, Mrs. Eules Presson, East Prairie; one brother, William Tanner, Puxico, and 13 grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Shelby Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Hale, St. Louis, officiating. Burial will be in the I.O.O.F. cemetery in Charleston.

Paul Hummel, Retired Druggist Dies Today

CHARLESTON -- Paul W. Hummel, retired druggist and well known citizen here, died today at 1 a.m. in the Host House, where he had been a patient for several weeks. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Hummel, and had resided here for the past 40 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Rita Hummel; two sons, Dr. John V. Hummel, Memphis, Tenn., and Billy Hummel, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Joe McCracken, Napierville, Ill., and five grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the Nunnelee Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. J. W. House, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

L.W. Walker Services To Be Wednesday

POPLAR BLUFF -- Linus Wilson Walker, 46, Sikeston, died at 9 p.m. Sunday in the Veterans Administration Hospital. He was born April 19, 1919, in Sikeston, the son of the late John and Sarah Ward Walker.

He was a truck driver and served with the army in World War II.

He is survived by one son, Wayne Walker of Sikeston; three brothers, Danny Walker of Sikeston, Charlie Walker of Caruthersville and Marvin Walker of Troy, Ill.; four sisters, Mrs. Ruth Hall of Blodgett, Mrs. Ella Cole of East St. Louis, Ill., Mrs. Laura Pratt and Mrs. Mary Milburn, both of Sikeston.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Nunnelee Funeral Chapel in Sikeston with the Rev. Jimmie Edmondson, pastor of the Blodgett Baptist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Memorial Park cemetery, Sikeston.

Wagoner Infant Dies In Hospital

BLODGETT -- Randy Dale Wagoner, four-day-old son of James Clifton and Jacqueline Mullin Wagoner, died at 10:30 p.m. Monday in the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, Sikeston.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Mickie Wagoner; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Burl Wagoner and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mullin of St. Louis.

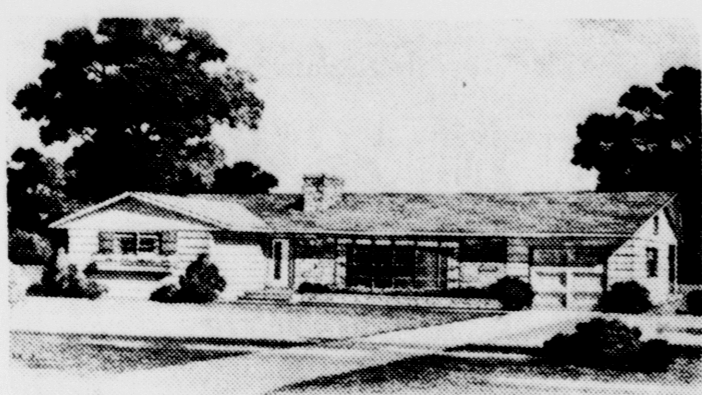

Graveside rites will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Blodgett cemetery with the Rev. Jimmie Edmondson, pastor of the Blodgett Baptist church, officiating. Nunnelee Funeral Chapel of Sikeston will be in charge.

JOHNSON

food shortage.

Mrs. Gandhi was reported pleased with her initial conferences with Johnson. "She was delighted at the warmth of her reception and the way her conversations were put on a friendly and understanding footing," said B. G. Verghese, Indian information advisor.

White House sources said Mrs. Gandhi had been consulted and is agreeable to the basic outlines of the educational foundation, to be patterned after the Rockefeller and Ford foundations. Details of its implementation are to be worked out later.

Johnson said the foundation would be designed "to promote progress in all fields of learning... to develop new teaching techniques... in farm and factory... to stimulate new ways to meet age-old problems."

He expressed hope it would be "a lasting endowment for the benefit of inquiring young minds in the Indian nation."

Subject to congressional approval, the foundation would be financed by use of some of the more than $575 million in Indian currency now held by the U. S. government.

This currency came from payments for surplus American commodities, such as wheat and rice, purchased by India. U.S. officials have been considering the idea for more than a year.

The President and Mrs. Gandhi met alone for more than an hour Monday and conferred again before the elaborate dinner for 140 guests Monday night. Secretary of State Dean Rusk attended an Indian Embassy reception for the prime minister earlier Monday night. President and Mrs. Johnson plan to attend a small reception given by Mrs. Gandhi at the Indian Embassy tonight.

Mrs. Gandhi leaves for New York Wednesday.

Beautification

Joseph, attacked the measure because he said it would give the highway department the right of eminent domain.

He said the department could use the money and the power to buy anything they wanted. "They can reward (under the bill) who they want to reward and punish who they want to punish."

Also advanced was a bill to increase the salary of the chairman of the Board of Probation and Parole from $10,500 to $17,500 a year, and the two board members from $9,000 a year to $15,000.

Another would let junior colleges issue revenue bonds to build dining halls, recreational and social facilities. In floor action, the Senate lifted the 4 per cent ceiling on interest.

Sen. Earl Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, its sponsor, said there is no market for 4 per cent revenue bonds at present.

Earlier the Senate moved into position for passage a bill to let the state pay the first $40 of hospitalization costs for the indigent aged when Medicare goes into effect July 1.

The state also would pay $10 a day for hospitalization between the 60th and 90th days.

Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, said the plan would result in a net saving of $863,000 to the state when Medicare becomes effective.

Another bill tied to federal action went down the drain as delaying tactics in the Senate Ways and Means Committee effectively killed a measure for a uniform corporate income tax.

Both the sponsor, Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, and the committee chairman, Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, agreed the bill now has no chance in the remainder of the 60-day special session.

Spradling said if the federal government takes over the corporate income tax field, as proposed in a pending congressional bill, Missouri could lose up to $50 million a year because that would also knock out the state sales-use tax revenue.

Another committee approved a bill to set up a state-regional planning system to qualify for federal funds.

The modified version stripped away some of the broad powers in the original bill and would not interfere with the work of bi-state planning agencies in the St. Louis and Kansas City metropolitan areas.

Hamby Pest Control Sold

Hamby's Pest & Termite Control, Inc., of 1623 East Malone, has been bought by Bruce-Terminix Co., national termite and pest control organization in Memphis.

Announcement of the purchase was made today by Mrs. Grace Hamby Wall, who sold her interests in the firm.

Mrs. Wall has managed the company since the death of her husband, Jess Hamby, in 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Hamby founded the company in 1948. Mrs. Hamby was married to Jack Wall in February.

In reaching her decision to sell the company, Mrs. Wall said, "I felt the needs of our many friends and customers could best be served if Hamby Pest & Termite Control, Inc., were placed in the hands of the most reputable firm I could find."

For the next two or three months, Mrs. Wall said, Bruce-Terminix Co. of Sikeston will be under the management of Earl A. Hart, a native of Kansas City, who has been with Bruce-Terminix nine years.

Budget Bills Approved

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The House passed two budget bills Monday and advanced three others.

Sent to the Senate was a bill providing $4.6 million in emergency money to help some state agencies get through the fiscal year ending June 30.

The only argument over it was inclusion of $500,000 for possible purchase of the Tweedie Footwear Co. property, midway between the Capitol and the executive mansion.

Rep. Tom Baker, D-Stoddard County, said "this old cat was dragged through here last time at $875,000 and I think it's poor business."

The Senate Appropriations Committee started work immediately on the emergency bill. Also sent to the Senate was a bill carrying $5.5 million to pay the interest and some principle on state debts.

Advanced to position for final passage later were bills to: Provide money for the Department of Education and state aid for public schools in the fiscal year starting July 1. Allot $73,705,616 for the operation of the Department of Revenue.

Appropriate $326,718,757 for the operation of elective offices and most state departments, such as the Highway Department and the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Grace Hamby Wall announces the sale of Hamby Pest Control Co. to Bruce-Terminix Co.

world's best-known termite and pest control firm

Dear Friends:

For 18 years, the Hamby Pest Control Company has been a part of the Sikeston community. Much time and effort has been put into making it the well-respected firm it is today. But now it is no longer practical for me to operate the business on my own.

I have looked around to find the most dependable and reliable pest and termite control organization in the country to assure our good customers continued fine service. With the purchase of Hamby Pest Control by Bruce-Terminix, you can be certain of the same skilled protection for your homes and businesses that our company has always provided. Bruce-Terminix is owned by E. L. Bruce Co., world's largest producer of hardwood flooring. All work is bonded and insured.

When you deal with Bruce-

Terminix it will be the same as doing business with Hamby's. A resident manager, Mr. Earl Hart, is to be located right here in Sikeston, and he is ready to serve your needs immediately during this present termite swarming season. Be sure to call him.

Thank you for your loyal patronage through the years. We leave you in good hands.

Sincerely,

Grace Hamby Wall

food shortage.

Mrs. Gandhi was reported pleased with her initial conferences with Johnson. "She was delighted at the warmth of her reception and the way her conversations were put on a friendly and understanding footing," said B. G. Verghese, Indian information advisor.

White House sources said Mrs. Gandhi had been consulted and is agreeable to the basic outlines of the educational foundation, to be patterned after the Rockefeller and Ford foundations. Details of its implementation are to be worked out later.

Johnson said the foundation would be designed "to promote progress in all fields of learning... to develop new teaching techniques in farm and factory... to stimulate new ways to meet age-old problems."

He expressed hope it would be "a lasting endowment for the benefit of inquiring young minds in the Indian nation."

Subject to congressional approval, the foundation would be financed by use of some of the more than $575 million in Indian currency now held by the U. S. government.

This currency came from payments for surplus American commodities, such as wheat and rice, purchased by India. U.S. officials have been considering the idea for more than a year.

The President and Mrs. Gandhi met alone for more than an hour Monday and conferred again before the elaborate dinner for 140 guests Monday night.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk attended an Indian Embassy reception for the prime minister earlier Monday night. President and Mrs. Johnson plan to attend a small reception given by Mrs. Gandhi at the Indian Embassy tonight.

Mrs. Gandhi leaves for New York Wednesday.

Beautification

Joseph, attacked the measure because he said it would give the highway department the right of eminent domain.

He said the department could use the money and the power to buy anything they wanted. "They can reward (under the bill) who they want to reward and punish who they want to punish."

Also advanced was a bill to increase the salary of the chairman of the Board of Probation and Parole from $10,500 to $17,500 a year, and the two board members from $9,000 a year to $15,000.

Another would let junior colleges issue revenue bonds to build dining halls, recreational and social facilities. In floor action, the Senate lifted the 4 per cent ceiling on interest.

Sen. Earl Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, its sponsor, said there is no market for 4 per cent revenue bonds at present.

Earlier the Senate moved into position for passage a bill to let the state pay the first $40 of hospitalization costs for the indigent aged when Medicare goes into effect July 1.

The state also would pay $10 a day for hospitalization between the 60th and 90th days.

Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, said the plan would result in a net saving of $863,000 to the state when Medicare becomes effective.

Another bill tied to federal action went down the drain as delaying tactics in the Senate Ways and Means Committee effectively killed a measure for a uniform corporate income tax.

Both the sponsor, Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, and the committee chairman, Sen. Omer H. Avery, D-Troy, agreed the bill now has no chance in the remainder of the 60-day special session.

Spradling said if the federal government takes over the corporate income tax field, as proposed in a pending congressional bill, Missouri could lose up to $50 million a year because that would also knock out the state sales-use tax revenue.

Another committee approved a bill to set up a state-regional planning system to qualify for federal funds.

The modified version stripped away some of the broad powers in the original bill and would not interfere with the work of bi-state planning agencies in the St. Louis and Kansas City metropolitan areas.

Hamby Pest Control Sold

Hamby's Pest & Termite Control, Inc., of 1623 East Malone, has been bought by Bruce-Terminix Co., national termite and pest control organization in Memphis.

Announcement of the purchase was made today by Mrs. Grace Hamby Wall, who sold her interests in the firm.

Mrs. Wall has managed the company since the death of her husband, Jess Hamby, in 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Hamby founded the company in 1948. Mrs. Hamby was married to Jack Wall in February.

In reaching her decision to sell the company, Mrs. Wall said, "I felt the needs of our many friends and customers could best be served if Hamby Pest & Termite Control, Inc., were placed in the hands of the most reputable firm I could find."

For the next two or three months, Mrs. Wall said, Bruce-Terminix Co. of Sikeston will be under the management of Earl A. Hart, a native of Kansas City, who has been with Bruce-Terminix nine years.

Budget Bills Approved

JEFFERSON CITY AP -- The House passed two budget bills Monday and advanced three others.

Sent to the Senate was a bill providing $4.6 million in emergency money to help some state agencies get through the fiscal year ending June 30.

The only argument over it was inclusion of $500,000 for possible purchase of the Tweddie Footwear Co. property, midway between the Capitol and the executive mansion.

Rep. Tom Baker, D-Stoddard County, said "this old cat was dragged through here last time at $675,000 and I think it's poor business."

The Senate Appropriations Committee started work immediately on the emergency bill. Also sent to the Senate was a bill carrying $5.5 million to pay the interest and some principle on state debts.

Advanced to position for final passage later were bills to: Provide money for the Department of Education and state aid for public schools in the fiscal year starting July 1. Allot $73,705,616 for the operation of the Department of Revenue.

Appropriate $326,718,757 for the operation of elective offices and most state departments, such as the Highway Department and the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Grace Hamby Wall announces the sale of Hamby Pest Control Co. to Bruce-Terminix Co.

Dear Friends:

For 18 years, the Hamby Pest Control Company has been a part of the Sikeston community. Much time and effort has been put into making it the well-respected firm it is today. But now it is no longer practical for me to operate the business on my own.

I have looked around to find the most dependable and reliable pest and termite control organization in the country to assure our good customers continued fine service. With the purchase of Hamby Pest Control by Bruce-Terminix, you can be certain of the same skilled protection for your homes and businesses that our company has always provided. Bruce-Terminix is owned by E. L. Bruce Co., world's largest producer of hardwood flooring. All work is bonded and insured.

When you deal with Bruce-

Terminix it will be the same as doing business with Hamby's. A resident manager, Mr. Earl Hart, is to be located right here in Sikeston, and he is ready to serve your needs immediately during this present termite swarming season. Be sure to call him.

Thank you for your loyal patronage through the years. We leave you in good hands.

Sincerely,

Grace Hamby Wall
